NO. 213—SEVENTIETH YEAR

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1928

TWENTY-FOUR PAGES

PASSING OF MRS. CROFT IS MOURNED

Benevolence of Well-Known Citizen, United With Artistic Sense, Will Be Missed in Community Life

WAS LEADER IN SOCIAL WELFARE

Member of Dunsinuir Family Sustained Record for Public Service—Headed
I.O.D.E. Movement

A WOMAN of great-hearted benevolence, who for many years took an active and leading part in promoting charitable and patriotic movements in the city, passed away yesterday in the death of Mrs. Henry Croft. The end came peacefully at ten minutes past 1 o'clock at "Mount Adelaide," Esquimalt, her home for the last thirty-eight years. Mrs. Reginald Croft, a sister, who had been constantly in attendance since the illness became serious about a year ago, was present at the last. The funeral will take place at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon from Christ Church Cathedral, Rev. Archdeacon Laycock officiating.

Born at Nanaimo in February, 1862, Mrs. Croft was the fifth child (Mary) of the Hon. Robert Dunsinuir, discoverer and founder of the Wellington Collieries and builder of the E. & N. Railway, a man much loved and respected by all who knew him, and who did more than any one else since his time to develop and call attention to Vancouver Island.

As a young child she was sent to Victoria to attend Angela College, from there going to Mill's Seminary, Oakland, California, to complete her education. Later she returned to Vancouver Island, very shortly afterwards going abroad with her parents for two or three years. On July 1, 1885, after the family came back to British Columbia, she married Mr. Henry Croft, civil and mining engineer, and founder of the Chemainus mill and the town of Chemainus. Here they made their residence for some time before deciding to come to Victoria to live. "Mount Adelaide," built in 1880, and which Mrs. Croft occupied up to the time of her death, was one of the most beautiful residences in the city. Not only was the house designed by Mrs. Croft, but she personally supervised the laying out of the grounds, which are considered by landscape gardeners to be among the finest in Western Canada. The name "Mount Adelaide" was derived from the name of Mr. Croft's home near Adelaide, South Australia.

GENEROUS IN SPIRIT
From her girlhood Mrs. Croft exhibited an unusually generous spirit in her relations with people, and she had not been in Victoria long before all classes of the community came to regard her as a friend to whom they could go with their troubles, no matter what their nature. A charming personality and outstanding gifts of leadership singled her out for the organization of patriotic and charitable undertakings, and very early in her life she drew into the work of organizing the Daughters of the Empire when the activities of the order extended so far West. Camosun Chapter, founded on October 23, 1910, was the first chapter of the I.O.D.E. in Victoria. Mrs. Croft presided at this initial meeting at which Mrs. Rocke Robertson was elected first regent, and about a year later succeeded Mrs. Robertson in office. The Provincial Chapter was formed on March 14, 1913. The meeting was held at Alexandra House, and Mrs. Croft presided.

Esteemed Resident Succumbs Here

LATE MRS. HENRY CROFT

MR. DONAGHY TOLD NOTHING OF LEASE MADE

Minister From Vancouver
States Minister of Lands Leased Foreshore Without His Knowledge

PROPERTY LIES ON FALSE CREEK

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—Lease of foreshore lands between Thurlow and Butte Streets, on False Creek, to Mizak Alavoff by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, was made without his knowledge, states Hon. Dugald Donaghy, Minister of Finance.

Mr. Donaghy has returned from Victoria, where he consulted the Minister of Lands on the lease and was assured by Mr. Pattullo that the City Council had been supplied with a list of all applicants, following a request to the Department of Lands on December 30, 1925. On January 6, 1926, the department replied to the City Council, says Mr. Donaghy, that it would be kept supplied with information on the matter. Sometime thereafter, a full list of the names of persons and companies which sought leases were forwarded to the city.

The City Council, says Mr. Donaghy, should have taken an aggressive stand against leasing the foreshore and should have expressed its objections at the time without waiting for any further applications.

THIRTEEN DIE IN COAL MINE

EXPLOSION OCCURS IN PENNSYLVANIA MINE WHERE FIFTEEN MEN WORKED

Blast Occurs Fifteen Minutes Before Men Leave—Many Bodies Badly Mangled

COALPORT, Pa., Aug. 15.—Thirteen bodies were removed late tonight from the No. 3 mine of the Irons Coal & Coke Company, where a blast occurred late today. One miner was brought out alive and rescue workers stated that all men were accounted for.

There were 150 men in the working at the time of the blast, and company officials stated that had the explosion happened fifteen minutes later, the mine would have been cleared of men.

Most of the bodies were badly mangled.

The explosion was confined to No. 3 south section, which is located about three miles from the mouth of the mine.

Mrs. A. J. Jackson Makes Sweep of Egg Show Awards

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—Mrs. A. J. Jackson, Royal Oak, has made an almost clean sweep at the National Egg Show, Vancouver Fair, winning first brown egg dozen special, $20; second for brown extras, $15; second for brown firsts, $10; and sixth for white extras, $5. There were nearly 300 exhibits. Mr. Copthorne of Victoria, is also among the winners. Mrs. Jackson is awarded the B.C.H.A. bronze medal and diploma for the best dozen brown eggs in the show.

Bank Manager Released
HULL, Que., Aug. 15.—Robert Torvald Ottawa, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada at Gatinneau, Que., who was placed in the Hull jail while the authorities investigated an alleged conspiracy to rob the bank, has been released.

Maurice Ayotte, of Plantagenet, Ont., a former clerk, it was stated, completely exonerated Torvald.

CARE MARKS CHOICE FOR B.C. CABINET

Hon. S. F. Tolmie Explains to Conservative Picnic Consideration Exercised in Selection of Personnel

TO FREE PROVINCE OF FOOD IMPORTS

Among First of Problems to Be Tackled, Leader Says, Will Be Pacific Great Eastern Railway Issue

I AM just now engaged in the process of making a Cabinet. I am doing it by myself. There will be a lot of cabinet men left. I assure you I am giving the matter my most profound thought, viewing the situation from all possible angles. I am sleeping over the subject and rising up to reconsider the matter. This is the way in which Hon. S. F. Tolmie announced to the big Conservative gathering, at the annual picnic of the party yesterday, that he was engaged in trying to select with the utmost care the men who would hold Cabinet rank in his administration.

The leader said that he hoped to be able to announce his Cabinet without delay, following being called upon to assume the responsibilities. He added, by way of explanation, that he did not blame the Government of the day for the delay that had occurred in connection with the change taking place. That delay, he said, was made necessary by the statutes, and he was awaiting the time when he would be called upon to take over affairs.

It was in very serious manner that Dr. Tolmie addressed himself to this subject during his address, surrounded as he was by a number of the Conservative members of the Legislature elected at the recent poll.

"I realize the heavy responsibility that has been put upon me," he added. "This was not something of my own choosing; but having taken the duty placed upon me I will carry it out as well as I can."

TO MAKE INVESTIGATION
Significant was his reference to the P.G.E. He said that this matter would be one of the first with which he would grapple. He said that he was not going to deal with a subject of such importance by proceeding in the dark. On the contrary, he would have a thorough investigation made into the situation and decide as to the sale of the road; or, if investigation proved that this course was not an advisable one, he would view the vast resources available.

Great Increase In Apple Crop of Okanagan Valley

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—An increase of almost 900,000 boxes to the shipment of apples from the Okanagan fruit district is indicated in a report issued today by T. P. Whyte, superintendent of the Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg. The latest estimates indicate that the McIntosh crop will amount to 1,252,400 boxes, as compared with 738,493 boxes last year, an increase of 513,907 boxes, or sixty-nine per cent.

The total apple crop, which comprises largely the McIntosh and the Wealthy varieties, is expected to amount to 3,928,355 boxes this season, which is an increase of 890,845 boxes over last year.

Mail Received From Commander Dyott Indicates Reason for Cessation of Radio

(Copyright, 1928, by The North American Newspaper Alliance)
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—No wireless message has been received from Commander Dyott for a month, but dispatches dated in June have been received today by mail. They state that the wireless equipment had been injured and thus afforded explanation of the failure to receive word from him by radio. Following is part of his report by mail.

BAKARI POST, Matto Grosso, Brazil, June 10.—This outpost is the tip of a thin tentacle of civilization which is creeping into these remote parts. This is our very last contact with anything or anybody who knows or has even heard of civilization.

At San Manuel troubles began to crowd in on us. The bullocks started to buck and distribute our cargo on the water. Unfortunately, our wireless was damaged.

In a dispatch published yesterday, speculating on reasons which might account for the absence of recent wireless messages from Commander Dyott, it was said that this might be due to trouble with the radio apparatus.

FINED FOR FIRE

POWELL RIVER, Aug. 15.—Charged before Magistrate Parker on Monday with contravening the conditions of a burning permit, in that he failed to see that a fire was totally extinguished before leaving same, A. Waldron was convicted and fined $25 and costs.

Resigning Primate; Possible Successor

ARCHBISHOP Matheson's resignation as primate of the Anglican Church in Canada has caused some surprise among church leaders, and there is much conjecture as to who will succeed him. Archbishop Matheson is shown as No. 4 in the above layout, with No. 1, Archbishop C. L. Worrell, of Nova Scotia, the senior archbishop, who is said to be the most likely choice; No. 2, Archbishop David Williams, of Huron, and 3, Archbishop A. W. dePencier, of New Westminster. All three are prominently mentioned in connection with the appointment.

There will be eight wonderful teams to make spectacular turnouts and they will include prize winners of the Portland International, and Chicago shows. The regulations call for each team to weigh 1400 pounds or over, and lovers of horse flesh will undoubtedly be regaled with a sight that will gladden their eyes.

There are two entries from Oregon stables consisting of Percherons and Belgians. There are two teams entered from Washington consisting of Clydesdales and Percherons, one entry from California of Shires, Percherons and Clydesdales, one from Alberta entry of Shires, and a British Columbia entry of Clydesdales.

The horse entry is so much heavier this year that it has been necessary to construct twenty-eight new stalls to provide accommodation for all that will come to the exhibition.

MINISTER TO FRANCE NAMED
HON. PHILIPPE ROY APPOINTED—COMMISSIONER IN PARIS FOR 18 YEARS

Has Held Office Since Time of Sir Wilfrid Laurier—Formerly Ottawa Senator

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Hon. Philippe Roy has been recommended by the Dominion Government to His Majesty the King for appointment as Canadian minister plenipotentiary to Paris, Premier Mackenzie King announced tonight. Mr. Roy has been Canadian commissioner in Paris for the past eighteen years.

No action to appoint a Canadian minister to Paris has yet been taken, the Premier stated.

It is expected that the formal commission for the appointment of Mr. Roy will be issued by His Majesty in time for the opening of the legation in Paris during the first week of October.

Mr. Roy was born on December 13, 1868, at St. Francois, Que., and was called to the Senate on March 8, 1906. He was appointed to Paris May 1, 1911, being one of the last appointments made under the administration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Roy was also appointed Agent-General for the Province of Quebec at Paris on January 15, 1912.

TABLET IS ERECTED ON GREENLY ISLAND
MONTREAL, Q., Aug. 15.—Today at Greenly Island, a memorial tablet to make the spot where the transatlantic plane Bremen ended the first successful east to west air crossing of the Atlantic.

Inhabitants of the little fishing village on the island who played host to Baron Von Huenfeldt, Major (now colonel) J. Flatters and Captain Herman Koehl, the crew of the plane, attended the ceremony.

SPoke TOO SOON
SASKATOON, Aug. 15.—Shown a dispatch from Vancouver stating that no word of John Hornby, the explorer, having farmed on Lulu Island could be found, A. J. Bell, of Saskatoon, who this morning stated that he had a telephone conversation with Hornby at Vancouver last Fall, now believes that he must have been mistaken. Mr. Bell was commenting on a dispatch from Ottawa, which stated that the bodies of Hornby and his two nephews were found in the barren region west of Hudson Bay after being missing for two years.

Mr. Bell now believes that he was talking to Hornby's cousin, Leland Hornby, farmer near Ladner, B.C., who had heard the explorer speak of Mr. Bell.

It was stated by Mrs. Leland Hornby, of Ladner, Tuesday afternoon, that John Hornby, the explorer and a cousin of her husband, who was reported in an Ottawa dispatch yesterday to have perished with his companions on the Thelon River, had never visited Vancouver to her knowledge.

Cecil Rhodes of Brazil Raises Army to Subdue Diamond Field Indians

Force of Ten Thousand Vigilantes Raised in Wild West of South America—Indian Tribes
Cheated by White Employers Had for Two Months Burned, Pillaged and Murdered

Two Thousand Natives Driven Into State of Guyaz and There Disarmed

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 15.—Ten thousand vigilantes, under Jose Morbeck, who is nicknamed "the Cecil Rhodes of South America," have ended two months of guerrilla warfare in Matto Grosso by driving 2,000 disgruntled native diamond prospectors across the border of the State of Guyaz. Reports of the trouble reaching here tell of fights in the jungle and uplands of the rich diamond field, of night forays, the burning of towns and the wiping out of inhabitants of several communities. The trouble started when natives found they had been paid in counterfeit money for weeks of prospecting work in the stifling hot jungles. The use of fake money had become a common practice among the irresponsible foreign adventurers who infest the region, and finally the natives decided to wipe out the boss prospectors.

A period of lawlessness followed, rivaling the days of old-time American Indian warfare. There was burning of scattered homes and hamlets and massacre of the inhabitants. Individual prospectors were ambushed, and robbery and plain murder were common.

The Governor of Matto Grosso tried to control the situation with state troops, but gave up the attempt after several disastrous engagements.

UNCROWNED KING ACTS
Then Morbeck, uncrowned king of the district, called on his adherents. Ten thousand rallied to him while the malcontents centered their cause under the command of a bandit chief known as "Carvalho," which is the Portuguese name for the sturdy water oak. Morbeck's force was too great to resist, and the bandits, numbering 2,000, were driven into the State of Guyaz, where they were given asylum and the right to work in the diamond fields of that state, after the governor had disarmed them and exacted promises of peaceful conduct.

The diamond fields of the two states have been the scenes of "wild west" happenings ever since 1918, when a German prospector found the first gems in the Araguaia River region. Adventurers of every stripe poured into the fields from all parts of the globe. They were far from civilization and made their own laws, enforcing them in their own way. If an individual did not follow the rules of any one camp, he was "moved" to another, provided his objections were not expressed too forcibly. In the latter case, he was given free burial. The practice of paying natives with counterfeit money grew up among the worst elements of the prospectors.

DISSENSION IN GOVERNMENT OF S. AFRICA
Bitter Feeling Develops Between Nationalists and Both Factions of Already Divided Labor Party

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Aug. 15.—With a general election approaching in the Union of South Africa, the acrimony between the Nationalist and Labor Parties, who at present are allied to form the governing majority, is emerging in the form of a sharp controversy over the division of constituencies between candidates.

Ever since Premier Hertzog's declaration that his Nationalist Party will not permit the loss of seats through the split in the Labor ranks, the Nationalist Party speakers have been claiming various seats on the ground that a Nationalist majority exists in these constituencies.

These pretensions have evoked a sharp reply from Col. F. H. Creswell, Minister of Defence and Hon. W. B. Madsley, Minister of Public Works. These two are leading the opposition faction in the Labor Party, which was split when Col. Creswell, with his supporters, withdrew support of the official executive council of the party and set up a council on his own account.

LABOR DEMANDS SEATS
The two ministers, however, united in opposing the Nationalist claims. At Johannesburg yesterday Colonel Creswell declared that the Labor Party aimed at increasing its representation in Parliament, and if the price of continuing the present Nationalist-Labor coalition was the handing over of Labor seats to their allies, it had ceased to be an attractive policy.

Mr. Madsley declares: "If the Nationalist Party wish to challenge and jump Labor seats, Labor must look after itself. If we think certain seats belong to us, we are going to ask for them."

Naturally the affair is causing some satisfaction to former Premier Smuts, leader of the South African Party, which at present is in opposition.

PREMIER WILL HAVE COMPANY
United States Secretary of State to Sail With Premier King on Saturday

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Premier Mackenzie King announced this evening that he will sail from New York on the Ile de France early Saturday morning to sign the multi-lateral treaty in Paris on August 27. It is understood here that Premier King will cross the Atlantic on the same boat with Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, United States Secretary of State, who will execute the treaty on behalf of his Government.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, will sail on the Empress of Australia from Quebec on Wednesday and will meet Premier King in Paris.

The Prime Minister and Mr. Dunning will proceed to Geneva to represent the Dominion at the meeting of the League of Nations. Early in October Premier King will open the Canadian Legation in Paris and will afterwards spend about a week in England.

The Prime Minister will return to Canada about October 15.

MISSING RELATIVE
VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—Provincial police have been asked to assist in finding Edward Hill, formerly of Solton, England, whose brother, Rowland Hill, of that place, has not heard of him since he served in the Canadian army through the war.

Body Identified
VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 15.—The body of a man found with a bullet wound in the foot this morning on a wharf at the foot of Victoria Drive, was identified late today as that of Henry Muller, sixty-eight, retired interior decorator of this city. His wife lives in Victoria. A revolver was found near the body.

Flood Conditions Widespread Over
State of Georgia
ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 15.—Serious flood conditions were widespread over Georgia tonight, as the tropical storm which hit the state last night blew itself out in a torrent of rain over the upper watersheds of Georgia and Alabama.

Only one death was reported, but preliminary estimates gave enormous damage to crops, highways and wire communications, with several towns virtually isolated and inhabitants of lowlands along the rivers warned of rising waters.

future, to decide upon what course should be followed if it was retained.
I have every confidence in the province," added Dr. Tolmie. "By adopting a sane policy and following it up results will follow."

The leader stated that he wanted to see as early results as possible.
He favored the development of the resources of the province and its industries so that returns might be forthcoming. In the meantime he advocated attention to the extension by all means possible of the seagoing trade from the ports of the province.

TO FEED ITSELF
In connection with the agricultural development, he said, he was going to make an earnest endeavor to have the province feed itself. He wanted to make British Columbia not only a good country to live in,
but also a profitable country in which to live.

Expressing his pleasure at the large gathering, the leader said that he had attended Conservative picnics in all parts of the Dominion, but he could say that in this connection the local gathering was one of the most picturesque spots in Canada in which to hold the event.

Outside of the members-elect from the city and the surrounding districts there were present on the platform three mainland members who have been elected, Mr. Neil Loughheed, of Dewdney; Mr. W. C.
Shelly, of Vancouver, and Mr. S. L.
Howe, of Richmond-Point Grey.

Dr. Tolmie, in making reference to them, gave special praise to Mr.
Loughheed, who is president of the Provincial Conservative Association.
He explained, had been of great service. He was always to be depended upon to do the right thing when the occasion arose, said Dr. Tolmie.
Mr. Howe and Mr. Shelly also came in for praise.

THANKS TO WORKERS
The effect of the victory at the polls had been wonderful throughout the country. The success which had attended the party was due in no small way to the splendid work of the older heads in the party who had had experience and who gave valuable advice when needed. The women of the country, who represented about fifty-two per cent of the vote, had shown themselves excellent workers. There had been support also given the party by the young men of the country. They were looking for something better in the province in the matter of population. The "restless spirit" of these young men aided materially in the results attained.

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank the workers from all parts of British Columbia for the results obtained in the election," said Dr.
Tolmie.

COMING BY-ELECTION
Before he concluded his address, Dr. Tolmie made reference to the coming by-election in Victoria for the House of Commons to fill the vacancy caused by his resignation from that seat. He urged the necessity of getting ready for it.

There was nothing of more importance, he said, than to get the Conservative Government in Canada.
The lack of national policy in the country was being felt every day.
With a Conservative Government at Ottawa, Canada would be run for the benefit of the people of this country.

"We will never get the full benefits in this country until Canada is run for the benefit of Canadians," added the leader.

He went on to praise the good work that Hon. R. B. Bennett was doing as leader. He urged that the local seat, which the election came,
should be filled by a Conservative.
Dr. Tolmie was greeted with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and cheers.

Winnipeg Greets
BRITISH LEADER

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—Tumultuous cheers greeted Ramsay MacDonald, the first Labor Premier of Great Britain, and his three daughters, on their arrival in Winnipeg late tonight for a two-day halt prior to starting their holiday sojourn in the West. Despite the fact that the train carrying the visitors was two hours late, hundreds of citizens waited patiently at the station and lined the streets in the vicinity.

Premier John Bracken, Mayor
Dan Maclellan and a host of officials of labor and other organizations, joined in the welcoming ceremony, which was of the briefest nature, as the visitors were obviously tired after their long train journey.

Dam Gives Way

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 15.—
O. A. Clanton, chief of police of Quilman, Ga., told the Associated Press here, in a long-distance telephone message tonight, that the Bribe Dam, seventeen miles north of this city, broke in three places today, sending Oklawaha Creek out of its banks all the way down its course to the Withlacoochee River. Residents living in the sparsely settled lowlands in the flood's path had been warned in ample time to move to higher ground, Clanton said, and no loss of life was expected.

Croft was unanimously elected president, other officers being Lady Tupper, first vice-regent; Mrs. Carry (Vancouver), second vice-regent;
Mrs. Bowser, treasurer; Mrs. R. S.
Day, recording secretary; Mrs. Henshaw, organizing secretary; Mrs.
Hartley, acting standard-bearer; Mrs.
Haskell, corresponding secretary.

On her retirement from the provincial presidency, Mrs. Croft was unanimously elected honorary vice-president, an office which she continued to hold up to the time of her death, although she withdrew from active office in 1919 at the time of the national convention in Victoria.

Recognition of her enthusiastic and unremitting efforts in behalf of the order and its patriotic and educational work was made in the presentation to her of life memberships in the British Columbia Provincial and the Canadian National Chapters.

A member of Alexandra Club from its inception, she became its president at the time the construction of the building on Courtney Street was decided upon, and her energetic interest during the war years, when the members' attention was being diverted to patriotic endeavor, was a powerful influence in holding the organization together.

When the building was sold by the club she still retained a financial interest as one of the largest shareholders in the Alexandra House Company, which was the purchaser.

A presentation portrait of her by Mrs. Bowley, a well-known artist, hangs in the club rooms today.

OTHER INTERESTS
Another of Mrs. Croft's special interests was the Equimult Friendly Help, of which she was president for many years. Quite apart from her official activities on this body, many cases of distress and need in the community were assisted by her efforts to apply to the society.

No person was ever turned away empty-handed, although her benefactions were as unostentatious as they were generous. Her liberality, kindness and sympathy received an unusual recognition during the war in the presentation of the decoration of Lady of Grace of St. John of Jerusalem, an award very rarely conferred, and given as a mark of unusual honor.

For many years before the war,
"Mount Adelaide" was noted for its charming and lavish hospitality, and during the war Mrs. Croft frequently threw open her home and beautiful gardens on behalf of patriotic causes.

Some three or four years ago her health became impaired, and she gradually withdrew from the numerous activities in which she had played such an important part. For the last two and a half years she had been really ill, and after a serious operation two years ago failed to regain strength. Since June 5, this year, she had been unable to leave her room, her sister, Mrs. Chaplin, being in constant attendance.

A consistent and active patron of the arts, Mrs. Croft at one time regularly assisted with art exhibitions, concerts, private theatricals given in aid of charitable objects, and patriotic celebrations of various kinds. She was greatly in request to take charge of decorations for special functions, such as balls given in honor of distinguished visitors, and every prewar L.O.D.E. member will recall the beauty of the Empire float which she designed for one of the Empire Day patriotic procesions. The beauty of the decorations at the first Alexandra Rose Day festival, held some years ago at the Arena, was one of the outstanding examples of her artistic sense.

ONE OF TEN CHILDREN
Mrs. Croft was one of a family of ten children of the Hon. Robert and Mrs. Dunsmuir, as follows: Mrs.
John Bryden, Mrs. James Harvey,
the Hon. James Dunsmuir, Mr. Alexander Dunsmuir, Mrs. Houghton, Mr. of whom predeceased her; Mrs.
Burroughes, of Burlington Hall,
Norfolk, England; Lady Jessie Mac-grave, of Turin, Ireland; Lady Col-thorpe, of Somerset, England; Mrs.
Reginald Chaplin, of Victoria.

In her first presidential address many years ago to the Provincial Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, Mrs. Croft quoted Kipling's
"Glory of the Garden":

"So when our work is finished,
We may wash our hands and pray
For the glory of the garden.
That it may not pass away."

"We have our beautiful garden of British Columbia to cultivate and cherish," she is quoted in the minutes of that meeting as saying. "It is a large and strenuous undertaking, but what matters it if in the end we find ourselves in a better and still more beautiful garden."

HE THOUGHT HE HAD

KINGSTON, Ont., Aug. 15.—"I think I have killed my wife." These words received by the police over the telephone at 9:30 o'clock this morning resulted in the arrest of Wilbert Richard Williams, a retired schoolteacher, who is held on a murder charge.

The policeman found Williams waiting for them on the doorstep.
He showed the police inside. Mrs.
Williams was found dead, having apparently been killed with a claw hammer.

Williams, who was a member of a local tennis club, played tennis with his wife yesterday, and neighbors stated this morning that there had never been any indications of trouble between the couple.

LEAGUE CENSURED BY DR. A. SHORTT

Canadian Representative on Economic Committee Says Importance of Europe Exaggerated

MONTREAL, Aug. 14.—It was once thought by the League of Nations that the ailments of European countries were to be cured by international political agreements and legislation, but it is now realized by that body that the most efficacious remedy is economic suggestions and open discussion at meetings where all concerned know that no stupendous, binding effect is going to be pushed past recall by parties with reasons of their own behind them. This was the outstanding resume of the intricate affairs at Geneva as given by Dr. Adam Shortt, C.M.G., LL.D.,
Canada's present representative on the League of Nations Economic Committee, which sits periodically at Geneva and to which thirty-seven members journey from almost as many countries to offer information as experts, rather than official spokesmen for their nations, being approved by representative governments after nomination by the League.

Dr. Shortt returned to Canada aboard the Cunarder Aurania.

In an interview aboard the liner, Dr. Shortt gave a few opinions and descriptions of his work. He said that the economic committee in no way overshadowed the importance of the League, of which Senator Dan-durd is Canada's representative.

But there is a "general tendency to exaggerate the importance of Europe in connection with the League," he said, and this even extends to the economic committee, turning all minds towards the importance of post-war reconstruction in Europe, whereas a reconstruction is now relatively an accomplished fact of the past, and the world in general should be taking the stage for consideration.

Dr. Shortt said he was inclined to "agree with our American friends" that the rest of the world is entitled to more consideration than it gets when the work of straightening out European difficulties gives the League some spare time.

RESOLUTION TENDENCY
The tendency of the League to pass resolutions as a kind of parliamentary is fatal to its success, thought Dr. Shortt. It would introduce scheming and political methods, he felt. "Free ventilation of opinions and suggestions is necessary. The World Court, happily, came to nothing," said Dr. Shortt, continuing with the explanation that when Brian recently took his famous automobile ride with Stresemann, more co-operation was agreed upon and more harmony established between the two than a world court could ever accomplish for their countries.

Dr. Shortt recently was in collecting rare historical documents pertaining to Canadian history and, some of them, having a bearing on United States history. His position as chairman of the board of historical publications at Ottawa brings him into close contact with this collecting of invaluable documents for the Dominion Archives. Some of these have already been brought to Canada and others are to follow, all being safely lodged so as to eliminate wear and tear. Photographs of the originals serve for the use of students and other photoasts are sent to the United States, where the originals would be much desired. These documents deal with the financing of early endeavors in Canada and in the United States, which financing was done by and recorded by old English banking houses. Thus Canada will in time have a complete history of the most important events of her early times—a history now somewhat short of proofs and documentary evidence, it was explained.

GERMANY PROFITING
In a solicited discussion of Germany, Dr. Shortt said it was a curious thing that when closely examined, one found Germany's outlay for war debts to other countries and so forth, to be about one-third of the amount she would ordinarily have spent in maintaining a first-class army. "Thus she is in reality profiting from the results of the war and the subsequent arrangements between the Powers. Asked as to the significance of this state of affairs, Dr.
Shortt said that it seemed, from one point of view, almost as though the nations of Europe had conspired to set Germany squarely on its feet without loss of time, and he had to say that he certainly did not point to another war with Germany in the aggressive. He recalled the eco-

IRISH FREE STATE WINS RECOGNITION

Lord Chief Justice Hugh Kennedy Says Ireland Has Set Example to the World in Tolerance

HOLDS POSITION OF HONOR AND RESPECT

Outlines Policy of Government to Regenerate National Life and Culture and Create Prosperity

"The Irish Free State gives an example of tolerance to any country in the world. One of the bogies held up to us prior to our recognition was that we were intolerant. That was why six of our counties were cut off from us, to save them from intolerance. The Free State today however gives an example in tolerance that is hardly equalled in any other part of the world." The Honorable Hugh Kennedy, Chief Justice of the Irish Free State, declared today at the end of his address before members of the Canadian Club at a luncheon held in the Empress Hotel yesterday. There were nearly 150 members present.

Mr. Kenneth Ferguson, president of the Canadian Club, who pointed out that in 1867 Canada initiated the first experiment with self-government within the British Empire. Self-government in Canada had proved successful, and no higher tribute could be paid to its foundation or a better endorsement of its principles could not have been made than by the action of the Irish Free State in modelling its constitution of self-government along the same lines as Canada.

Chief Justice Kennedy, in his opening remarks, said that his utterances would be somewhat controlled by virtue of the position that he held. He was only a wayfarer travelling from one legal conference in America to another in Canada, and therefore not on a speaking tour.

He was only too pleased, however, to have the opportunity of telling what had been accomplished by the Irish Free State Government in the regeneration of national culture, thought, national consciousness and national industry.

SISTERLY AFFECTION
"The Irish Free State has never at any time had anything but a feeling of affection toward her sister Dominions across the sea, to which we are closely associated politically and industrially."

"We had a fight with England. But that fight ended with a treaty of peace, backed by a recollection which has wiped out any rancor of the past almost entirely," the speaker declared amid applause.

"Ireland in the past has been portrayed as a sort of funny man entertaining for the amusement of the world at large, as a country in which no responsibility could be placed. That fantasy has been belied by the achievements of Irishmen abroad and by the accomplishments of those at home to rule themselves."

He has been called dreamers, but our dream has at last been realized. The young men of Ireland underlook to free Ireland of a foreign Government, and, in doing so, won a position of respect and honor that would do credit to any community.

"The first task that faced those who had brought about the emancipation of the Irish was to create an economic national policy, to regenerate the national life of Ireland and establish for herself among other nations a place of honor."

THE CONSTITUTION
"We first had to evolve a constitution. Some say that we modeled it after Canada. Canada being the first Dominion to establish self-government naturally established a model for other Dominions to follow their constitution on. That is why there is such a similarity between the Canadian and Irish Free State constitutions."

"It is a constitution in which free democratic institutions are enshrined, in which ascendancy of any class or religion is impossible and in which there are equal rights and opportunities for everybody."

"To safeguard those who, before liberty was secured sometimes exhibited a mistrust, provisions were made in the constitution. Hope of these people feel any necessity for any safeguard now," the chief justice stated.

AGRICULTURAL POLICY
"One of the first tasks of the new Government was to establish a Department of Agriculture, and by financial aid and education assist in agricultural development of the country, for before anything else, Ireland is an agricultural country."

"Reform of education under a radical scale followed next. Agriculture was made the basis of education, because its bed was in an agricultural country. Rural science was introduced in the elementary grades, agricultural science in the higher grades and faculties of agriculture in the universities. As a result of this policy, Ireland has won in a few years a front place in English markets."

"Provisions for hydro-electric power have been made. The Shannon River is being harnessed at a cost of $5,200,000, and in a very short time light and power will be available to every homestead in the state."

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method
Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quickly by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxide powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pricking and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them there, and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxide powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

On Executive Council of Osteopathic Body

HUBERT POCKOCK
Of Toronto, has been made chairman of the Department of Public Affairs of the American Osteopathic Association. Last year he was programme chairman.

tion of the country the speaker said that two loans had been raised by the Government. The first had been for $10,000,000 for the purpose of restoring property damaged during the troublesome times. This had been fully subscribed in Ireland. The other loan had been half raised in the United States. In all the state's national debt was $23,000,000, or 17 per capita.

A nonarmed police force had been established after the establishment of the Free State. This force had been accepted by the people.

"We, who have no organized criminal class, are proud of the peace, law and order that is maintained by our constabulary. The army of 55,000 that we possessed prior to securing our freedom has been cut to 1,200 men. This small army is a parliamentary one and comes under no other control. Appointment of a commander-in-chief is vested in the executive council."

Another reform was the establishment of a modern and permanent system of highways. Concrete and asphalt roads were laid out. These were expected to develop the country rapidly, just as the roads had Canada and the United States.

CULTURAL REGENERATION
Regeneration of national life and culture was being accomplished chiefly through the schools. Learning of the English and Irish languages was made compulsory in the schools, so that the people in future will have two vernacular languages.

"Our present Minister of Finance is a Presbyterian from one of the six counties that were separated from us. The Minister of Industry and Commerce is also from one of the six separated counties. The majority of our judges, nine in all, are non-Catholic. There are five non-Catholic judges. The matter of religion never enters into the selection of persons to fill public appointments."

EXAMPLE OF TOLERANCE
"Ireland has set an example of tolerance and equality for everyone. Our system of selecting people for office precludes preference or graft. A body of commissioners makes the appointment, through a system of examinations and selection boards."

"With regard to our future, we shall grow under the inspiration of freedom and free institutions and will not be hampered by intolerance. I think our sister Dominions will not regret being associated with us in future. Those who have left Ireland to make their fortunes abroad will return to their kith and kin. We look forward to our further associations with the seven sisters of the realm of nations in promoting the arts of peace. We shall be ready to lend our support to any mission to promote the arts of peace that might be instigated by any one or any group of our sister Dominions," the speaker concluded amid applause.

Chief Justice Kennedy is en route to Regina to attend the Canadian Bar Association conference. He has been attending the American Bar Association conference in Seattle.

Seated at the head table with the guest of honor were: Mr. John Cochran, past president of the Canadian Club; Mr. Justice Martin, of the British Columbia Court of Appeal; Mr. A. P. Macfarlane, K.C., president of the Victoria Bar Association; Hon. J. D. MacLean, and Father Wood.

OIL MAGNATES OF WORLD MEET

Heads of Standard Oil, Royal Dutch Shell and Anglo-Persian Assemble in Scotland

OTHER OFFICIALS ACCOMPANY THEM

LONDON, Aug. 15.—With three of the chief figures in the petroleum industry sojourning at Achnacarry Castle, Invernesshire, reports of an impending consolidation have become current and oil shares are the present "bright spot" on the London Stock Exchange.

The Daily Express says that Walter G. Teagle, head of the new corporation formed to develop oil fields in the Near East, arrived at the castle a few days ago to "shoot, fish and forget all about oil."

He was joined by Sir Henry W. Detering, director-general of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company.

The third arrival was Sir John Cadman, chairman of the Anglo-Persian Company, a director of the Suez Canal Company.

The Daily Express says that a complete secretariat and a number of other oil company officials also have arrived at the castle or in its neighborhood. The newspaper adds that all attempts to get information as to the purpose back of the meeting have met with rebuffs.

DECISION IS RESERVED IN FRAUD CASE

Thirteen-Year-Old Boy, James Knight, Tells Story of George Smith's Actions on August 9

FIRE INSURANCE PAID HIM BEFORE

Magistrate George Jay has reserved decision in the case of George Smith, who was charged in the city police court yesterday of willfully fraudulent reasons burning his car on August 6. The decision will be announced in court tomorrow morning.

Jack Knight, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Knight, of 3323 Tennyson Avenue, was the feature witness in the case. He gave his evidence in terse replies of "Yes sir" and "No sir." His eyes glistened with tears as he underwent the cross-examination and was called upon to repeat his answers, which at times were almost inaudible.

The boy witness, answering questions of the crown counsel, Mr. E. L. Tait, told the story of what happened on the night of August 9. He had gone to a motion picture theatre with Smith and afterwards for a ride in his car. They drove out the Burnside Road, to where the old B.C.E.R. interurban railway tracks crossed the road, near Colquhoun stream. Smith told the boy to get out at this point, then drove on. After a very short space of time the Knight boy heard a crash and later saw the flames from a fire leap up some hundred yards up the road.

Smith returned to the boy and they walked to Knight's home, where Smith telephoned to the Atkinson Motor Company. Smith said to someone on the telephone that his car had been stolen, the witness declared.

The two then returned to Smith's home on Whittaker Street. Late in the evening a Saanich policeman came and notified Smith that his car had been found burned. The following morning, the witness said, he had told the story to Chief John Fry.

Cross-examining the boy, Mr. R. C. Lowe, counsel for the defence, suggested that Knight had told one story and later had given another story under threat.

Witness said that Chief Fry had told him to tell the truth and that he had complied with the request. Evidence was given by Mr. Charles W. Lovell, of the Atkinson Motor Company, to the effect that the Star car, 1924 model, which was burned, had been bought by Smith from the company. He placed the value of the car at the time it was destroyed between $350 and $400. It was insured for approximately $500.

The nature of the locality where the wrecked car was found was described by Mr. Arthur Brown, of the Pacific Coast Weekly. The car had gone over a ten-foot drop, and was in second gear when it plunged over the embankment. In the opinion of the witness, the car was worth only $50 before it was burned. Judging from the state of various worn parts.

OTHER FIRES

Charles Grant, Saanich fireman, testified regarding the state of the car when he had been called to the scene following the fire. Practically everything that would burn had burned, he said.

GIVES STATEMENT

Chief John Fry took the stand. He had first seen the boy, Knight, at his place of employment and had there questioned him. The boy at first had told him a similar story to that reported to the police by Smith. A remark, "He will give me hicks," by the boy had led him to believe the truth was not being told, said witness. He had further questioned him for a true statement.

Mr. Lowe, in summing up the case for the defence, pointed out that the evidence of the boy was the only direct evidence and in any case there was no evidence of fraud. He submitted that there was no case to be met.

Mr. Tait, crown counsel, urged upon the court the sincerity of Knight's statements. He further pointed out that the practice of burning automobiles for insurance was serious, and that this man had been caught "red-handed."

CELEBRATES CAPT. COOK'S LANDING; BRITISH TAKE PART

HONOLULU, Aug. 15.—With formalities incidental to the opening of the sesquicentennial celebration of the discovery of Hawaii by Captain James Cook, British explorers, completed a pilgrimage to the historic spot where Cook first landed was undertaken today.

British, Australian, New Zealand and American officials expected to leave Honolulu tonight for the island of Kaula to visit the spot where Cook landed, where he held the first Christian funeral service, and where he died. Naval officers representing the four countries designated the U.S.S. Pennsylvania to lead the international flotilla to Kaula and return, and then make a pilgrimage to the island of Hawaii and back.

British armed troops will land on Kaula tomorrow for the first time since Cook's landing in 1778. They will participate in the dedication of a monument to the discoverer, after which the four warships will fire national salutes of twenty-one guns each.

Costa Rica Asks League's View of Monroe Doctrine

GENEVA, Aug. 15.—The Central American Republic of Costa Rica wants the League of Nations to interpret the Monroe Doctrine before deciding whether to accept or reject an invitation from the League Council to resume membership.

Costa Rica has incorporated this request in an official communication to the Council, an action which has caused a sensation among those cognizant of the letter.

Traces of Prehistoric Race of Cliffmen Are Sought in Vast Canyon

With the purpose of solving the mysteries of the hitherto unexplored, Yampa River Canyon, an expedition has been organized in Denver, Colorado. The members of the expedition expect to make important discoveries of a scientific nature, as well as solve the question of whether a brown-skinned race of prehistoric cliff-dwellers inhabited this region. Four men will make up this party of explorers. They are A. G. Birch, of The Denver Post; Fred E. Dunham, an expert motion camera man; Charles E. Mac, a "still" photographer, and Bert Morris, Jr., of the University of Colorado. Their findings will be published exclusively in the Associated Newspapers of the North American Newspaper Alliance.

DENVER, Col., Aug. 15.—Few persons know that hidden among the lofty mountains of Northwestern Colorado there is a river of considerable size that flows through a canyon approximately eighty miles long and from 2,500 to 4,000 feet deep through which no man has ever traveled, and which remains completely unexplored.

Five expeditions, but all as is known, have attempted to descend this gorge in boats; so far of them have been wrecked with the loss of a number of lives, and the survivors have been obliged to abandon the trip after proceeding only a few miles.

This is the canyon of the Yampa, sometimes called the Bear River. It is up in the corner of the state where Colorado, Wyoming and Utah come together. It is buried in the heart of a region as wild and isolated as any in the entire West. There are no railroads, wagon roads, towns or inhabited ranches within many miles of the lofty plateau through which the river has carved its winding gorge.

HAUNT OF BANDITS

In the early days of the first railroad in Wyoming, bandits used to rob the trains and then flee on horseback southward into the canyon.

From these refuges later came tales of wonderful prehistoric Indians.

Editor of Nechako Chronicle Pays Visit to Victoria—Says Business Conditions Excellent

The upbuilding of an agricultural population in the Nechako Valley is steadily progressing, according to Mr. W. J. Rimes, editor and proprietor of The Nechako Chronicle, published at Vanderhoof, who is a visitor in Victoria for a few days. The population of Vanderhoof is now some 300, but there are 2,000 residents scattered throughout the valley. Vanderhoof is an important centre, being an outlet to the north (Omineca district) where much mining activity is anticipated in the future.

The crop of oats, wheat and hay in the Nechako Valley this summer is about the average. There is a Dominion illustration station there which is doing good work, under Mr. D. Turcotte, who is under the supervision of Mr. A. E. Richards, of Agassiz. A new industry in the valley is fox farming, which is showing excellent progress.

Mr. Rimes has been in newspaper work in Vanderhoof for the last thirteen years, first with The Herald, and running The Chronicle since 1920.

Summer Epidemic Of Influenza Fatal

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—A serious epidemic of influenza has broken out along the banks of the MacKenzie River in Manitoba, with considerable loss of life, said a letter from Rev. W. B. Singleton, principal of the Hay River Indian School, by the Hudson and Eskimo Mission of the Missionary Society of the Church of England.

At Fort Resolution, where Slave River flows into Slave Lake, thirty deaths were reported. At Hay River, toward the west end of the lake, there was ten deaths. The toll of deaths at other points was thought to be even greater, the letter stated.

Prank Causes Death

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—A piece of paper placed over a hole on the second floor of a house under construction on Montcalm Street, Point Grey, was responsible for the death of James McKeating, aged six, of Marine Drive, West. It was stated in evidence given before a coroner's jury. The boy received fatal injuries on Sunday. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

According to witnesses, a number of boys were playing in the house, and several of them planned to build a trap by covering a hole with paper. They forgot to put boards over the hole as they intended, and when young McKeating came along he fell sixteen feet to the cement floor of the basement.

WEDNESDAY LEAGUE CRICKET
LEADERS LOSE TWO POINTS

Tickle Is High Scorer of the Match—Hanson Has Fine Bowling Analysis

In yesterday's Wednesday League cricket match the Tillicums were defeated by the Hudson's Bays by 102 to 84. Tickle was high scorer for the clubmen, getting 32. The first four batsmen of the winners batted well. Baker especially played a good innings. Hanson was good with the ball, taking seven wickets for 23 runs. Heinekey and Fletcher both bowled well. Shrimpton and Johnson both kept wicket well, a remarkable feature of the match being that there were no extras on either side. The full score follows:

CANADIAN GOLF PROVES CLOSE

Ross Somerville, Defending Champion, Remains in Title Hunt—Several Upsets Occur

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—With the Canadian amateur golf championship past the week-end stage after the first two days' play, there was color and excitement in the thrilling contests which developed in the second round, contested over the summer course today. Out of the keenly fought struggles which developed, spectacular golf and not a few surprises, eight amateur stars triumphed and moved to the quarter-finals to be contested tomorrow.

In the lower half of the quarter-final draw are four Ontario players. Fred Hoblitzel, Lambton, meeting Jack Cameron, Mississauga, tomorrow, while Ross Somerville, London Hunt Club, plays Carroll M. Stuart, of the Ottawa Hunt. The upper half of the draw finds Hugh Northwick, of Wexford, Ontario, drawn against Mountfield.

The dramatic tussle of the day and the one which attracted the largest gallery, outside of the enthusiastic crowd that had consistently followed Ross Somerville, was that which brought together Carroll Stuart and Al Brodbeck, of Mount Vernon, N.Y., in a game that fairly sparkled. Stuart triumphed on the thirty-sixth green when over on the roadway himself with his second; his opponent, a kick farther and landed in a ditch, which cost him the match.

The upset of the day was the defeat of A. B. Darling, of Whitlock, Ontario, by Hugh Northwick, 2 and 1, after Darling had led the Ontario man four up at the half-way mark. The other Montrealer to go out of contention was J. W. Yule, of the Westerner in the afternoon and, like Darling, went down 2 and 1.

CANADIAN GIRLS' TEAM WILL SAIL FOR HOME FRIDAY

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Canadian girls who competed in the Olympic games rested here today instead of proceeding with the male contingent to the Tailteann games in Dublin. The girls are to sail for Canada on the Laurentic, leaving on Friday, but the men are not returning until August 24.

Lord Decies, famous British sportsman, entertained several of the Canadian girls last evening. The girls were not feeling in very good condition after an air voyage from Paris following competition at Amsterdam. Several suffered from air sickness and one party endured a temporary forced landing. Their experiences supported the assertion often made that athletes seldom make good voyagers.

EDWARDS AGAIN BEATS HAHN IN 300-METRE RACE

DUBLIN, Aug. 15.—Phil Edwards, Canadian Olympic middle-distance star, who beat out Lloyd Hahn for fourth place in the Olympic 800 meters, repeated his victory over the Boston boy today, when he won the 300-metre run at the Tailteann games.

Edwards and Hahn fought a fairly even duel until they rounded the final turn, but the former had more left at the end. Edwards covered the distance in 2 minutes 2 1/5 seconds—fast time for a grass track.

Joe Ray, of the United States, won the Tailteann games marathon run from Movon to Dublin today.

Tilden and Hunter Go Down to Defeat In Eastern Tennis

RYE, N.Y., Aug. 15.—In the most surprising day of tennis the Eastern turf court championships ever have brought forth, Big Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, No. 1 and No. 2 in the national ranking, and first two seeded players in the tournament, were eliminated in the quarter-final round today. Both were defeated in straight sets, Tilden losing to Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., 6-4, 6-3, after Hunter had been downed by nineteen-year-old Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Texas, 6-4, 7-5.

In the women's singles the two seeded favorites, Mrs. A. H. Chapin, of Springfield, Mass., and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, of Santa Monica, Cal., came through to the semi-finals. The other semi-finalist in the women's singles is Mrs. Helen Pollak Paik, of New York.

PICNIC IS HELD AT BEAVER LAKE

Pride of Victoria Lodge and Durban Lodge Hold Enjoyable Outing and Sports

Pride of Victoria Lodge, R.A.O.B., held its annual basket picnic at Beaver Lake on Sunday. The picnic had been postponed from Saturday, July 15, to enable the members of the Durban Lodge to join in the outing.

About 150 members from the two local lodges with their wives and families and friends were present, and although the weather in the afternoon turned out to be a little unfavorable, everybody present seemed to enjoy themselves. There was a lengthy programme of sports and Brother Jasper was very untiring in his duties as chairman of the sports committee. The whole arrangements, which were carried out so successfully, were due to the excellent arrangements he had made. The final item on the programme of sports was a tombola, the winner of which received a 100-pound bag of sugar, donated by Brother H. Smith, the winner being Mrs. Biles, of Esquimalt. Special prizes were put on for the sailor members, for which Brother Smith and A. W. Dawe, P.G.P., K.O.M., gave special prizes. Another feature of the sports was a bun-eating contest for boys, about ten boys taking part in the contest.

Excellent prizes were donated by the following: Messrs. D. Maynard, H. Smith, T. J. Brunson, Hudson Bay Co., D. Spencer, Ltd., Thorne's Shoe Store, Army & Navy Store, Two Jacks, Fletcher Brothers, Central Meat Market, Crystal Spring Mineral Water Co., and individual members of the lodge. The Pride of Victoria Lodge donated a silver cup to be competed for in the tug-of-war contest, the winners to hold the cup for twelve months.

The sports results follow:
Tug-of-war—1, Chas. Gibbons; 2, Pearl Thomas; 3, May.

Girls under 8 years—1, Pearl Cox; 2, Kathleen Williams; 3, Lucy Thomas.

Boys under 8 years—1, J. Williams; 2, F. McGrath; 3, L. Phillip.

Girls under 10 years—1, Pearl Cox; 2, F. Creed; 3, M. Harper.

Boys under 10 years—1, J. Williams; 2, Ed. De Costa; 3, L. Phillip.

Girls under 12 years—1, N. Harper; 2, M. Harper; 3, H. Fitton.

100-yard race, open—1, A. Wagland; 2, D. Woods; 3, W. Green.

Bun-eating contest for boys—John Lapp.

Three-legged race (lady and gent)—1, Dora Jordan and W. Gelling; 2, Mrs. Watts and Mr. Trussen; 3, Mrs. Beal and Mr. Beal.

100 yards, members only—1, Brother Trafford; 2, Brother W. Cox; 3, Brother W. S. Dawe.

Married ladies' race, 75 yards, open—1, Mrs. Fraser; 2, Mrs. Williams; 3, Mrs. Playne.

Thread and needle race, one prize for lady and one for gentleman—Mrs. and Mr. Woods.

In the tug-of-war contest between the members of the H.M.S. Durban Lodge and members of the two local lodges, the local members were the winners, taking the silver cup. The committee desires to express their thanks to the donors of prizes, also to those members that assisted them in making the picnic a success.

WICKET KEEPER SETS NEW MARK

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A cricket wicket keeper's record was set up by L. E. Ames, Kent, yesterday when, playing against Sussex, he brought the number of batsmen he has caught or stumped this season to 103. The previous record was 102, made by Hulse, also of Kent, in 1913. Ames has been chosen first wicket keeper on the English team which plays in Australia this winter.

International Polo Won by Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—Vancouver won the Lane Trophy for the Northwest International Polo championship at Brighouse Park today when they defeated Calgary, 8-4, in a stirring match. The Albertans put up a splendid battle against the strong Coast four. In the consolation event, Portland Hunt Club ran away from Vancouver's B squad to win 6 to 0.

Preparing for Autumn

Autumn Materials of Fascinating Textures and Color, Skirts Are Full—New Embroideries Shown in Lovely Colors

The new Rodier materials for Autumn and Winter coats and skirts and long coats are in all shades of brown, beige, blue, with some black and white mixtures which look like grey, and plenty in all-black cloth to be made up with light furs, says an article in The London Times.

Zibikasha in black is something like the old-fashioned broadcloth, but softer to the touch and not quite so shiny on the surface. The same sort of cloth under another name is made in colors. Kashavelline in beige, grey and brown has diagonal stripes and tweed markings. Some of these kashas are reversible and perfectly designed for warm Winter coats. They need no lining, and though thick are light in weight. All tweeds are marked with small patterns, so are jerseys; and they show that irregularity in the weaving which, machine woven as they are, gives the appearance of hand-work.

A homespun kind of cloth, suitable for Winter traveling coats, is made in many patterns and colors under the common name of burle. There are various burles, some speckled, others herringbone, striped diagonally, checked, and plaided. For light Autumn coats and skirts there is granica cloth, very like the Summer cloth called asperic. Vellaine is another coat and skirt material which has small geometric patterns and diagonal stripes. All cloths under the name of filic are used for coat frocks and coats and skirts. They have spots of uneven sizes, herringbone markings, and speckles.

NEW MATERIAL
A light material for dresses to be worn under heavy coats is called kashafyn. In delicate pastel shades it is finely figured. The rose-patterned kashafyn is especially attractive, silken to the touch, light, and warm enough for house wear. In silk and wool mixed there are other light materials in color, with and without patterns. Among them are sumida and tusilikasha. They imitate Summer silks, such as foulard and tussore. Spotted cotton velvet is made into Autumn coats, which, trimmed with fur, can be worn over silk dresses. In yellow and brown, in black and white, this cotton velvet may be recommended. The pattern relieves the dusty look of plain cotton velvet. For afternoon coats it may easily take the place of silk velvet, which is very fragile.

WOOLEN LACE WORK
Among the new embroideries and fanciful materials is a woollen lace in small patterns, which may be used for jumpers, either to make them or to trim them. It can be had in a number of colors and also in white.

Milperia is a fine georgette closely woven with small glistening beads. This is employed for afternoon dresses. Net with chenille brocade is another evening material, and for evening wraps there is a rich silken material called clockellor. Machine embroideries on wool and silk are so perfectly done that it is difficult to distinguish them from hand-worked embroideries. Specimens in Indian reds, in pastel and powder blue, in white, in black, and in black and white together, indicate the future popularity of rich scarf trappings, tunics and skirts with embroidered hems. Jerseys used to make sport clothes are elaborately figured and colored; some have gold threads interwoven. All the silk scarves and triangle handkerchiefs are gay and soft.

FIGURED MATERIALS
It is clear that materials for Autumn and Winter will be figured rather than plain, although plain black and plain navy blue will be used with elaborately embroidered materials in red, ivory white and beige. Plain black coats trimmed with fur and richly lined are to be worn. Red is likely to be a favorite color in the early Autumn and Winter; there are many shades, some very bright, others rich and dark. In jerseys, beige and grey, red is interwoven. In silks and fine cloths it is generally employed in patterns. Delicate, transparent laces and tulle with rich brocade are used for evening dresses, and soft moire is still in fashion. All evening dresses are so full in the skirt that they look important. When slim they are made of rich materials like satin, velvet and silk brocade. Colors are invariably bright and patterns are small. Flower patterns are almost as frequent as geometric signs. Spots with ragged edges and of different sizes, crooked lines, and a mixture of many colors are to be seen in silks and chiffons.

China Insists On Abrogation Of Japan Treaty

SHANGHAI, Aug. 15.—The Nationalist Government has sent a second note to Japan regarding the disputed treaty of 1896. The contents was not revealed officially, but it was indicated that the note repeats China's determination to abrogate the pact.

The note was handed to the Japanese Consul at Nanking late last night. Today that official was transmitting it to the Japanese minister at Peking.

Miss MacDonald Speaks Of Her Special Interests

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—Asked as to her impression of Canadian women, Miss MacDonald says she finds them very sporting and possessed of a rare degree of common sense, "and I can see no menace to their health because of their high heels—which subject seems to be causing a lot of people worry," said she. "My observation is that the majority of Canadian women wear sensible shoes, on more attractive lasts than ours. But, oh, my hat!" exclaimed the young woman, "when they are high, they are high indeed."

During her residence in the Prime Minister's house in London, Miss MacDonald saw her father in what was perhaps the most difficult position in the Empire at the time. The experience she gained then, she feels, has enabled her to handle her present job on the Council of the County of London, to which she was elected last March on the Labor ticket.

"My particular interest in the Council of London County is education and housing problems," said Miss MacDonald. "Education is compulsory in London between the ages of six and fourteen. The elementary school age is to eleven, or thereabouts, after which, according to their scholarship, pupils are graded to the secondary schools, in which they have the choice of a trade, English or classical education. The central schools are for pupils of lesser scholastic attainments, and part of my job is to visit these schools and to report to the scholarship committee. I am fighting hard to help students get a chance to better cope with requirements," said the young councillor. Miss MacDonald will study, as time allows, the Canadian methods of medical inspection in Canadian schools. In her district medical examination is made four times during the school year, which system has been observed since 1908, but Miss MacDonald's aim is to do away with the voluntary system by which the school year, which she admits herself to be one, and have qualified nurses make the examinations after the doctor's report.

"The old, conservative idea that any person who is willing to give time to charity, has got to go. We must have efficiency in the schools, particularly in regard to the pupils' health, and I, for one, even though I get myself out of a pleasant, interesting job, am out to see that the system is done away with. Health is worth having, and it is the privilege of everybody to see that the little ones of our great cities get a 'good start' is the opinion of Miss MacDonald.

The MacDonalds are looking forward to becoming acquainted with Westerners. They have little time at their disposal, but from the clear-cut ideas they have formed in the short time they have been here it is safe to say they will carry back to the Old Land a better idea of conditions in Canada, and of her systems of government and education, than the majority of Canadians themselves have. The party will leave Kenora on the Canadian Pacific Imperial Limited for Winnipeg on Wednesday, starting for the farther West on Friday night.

Church Is Filled at Wedding

St. Mary's Church was the scene of an exceptionally pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, when Rev. A. E. del. Nunn officiated at the nuptials of Bertha Louise, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Wootton, and Albert William Edmondstone Stewart, son of the late Mr. W. F. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart, of Glen Stewart, Cowichan, and grandson of the late Mr. Andrew Wood Stewart, of Edinburgh, Scotland. The bride is a member of one of Victoria's oldest families, being a granddaughter of Captain Henry Wootton, who was postmaster-general of Vancouver Island when it was a crown colony, and on her mother's side, granddaughter of the late Rev. R. H. G. Newton Burnie, pioneer physician and surgeon of Barrie, Ontario.

The church had been beautifully decorated in shades of mauve, blue and white, the chancel screen and arch being decked with stocks, asters and sweet peas, and the guest pews tied with clusters of asters and ferns tied with white satin ribbon. Masses home to meet his parents, who have arrived from New Brunswick and are staying at Camp 6, the guests of Mr. James Palmer.

Mr. J. H. A. Watt has as his guests for the week his father and mother, of Esquimalt, and Mr. Harry Dr. Newton Burnie, pioneer physician and surgeon of Barrie, Ontario.

The bride and attendants entered they were met by the choir who preceded them down the aisle, singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden, and later "O Perfect Love" was sung.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was pretty in her picture gown of rich ivory satin, simply fashioned with plain bodice and mousquetaire sleeves and flared skirt, which dropped at either side, and finished at the waist with a large satin bow. The beautiful silk veil, which had been worn by her mother at her wedding, fell in long soft folds to form the train, and was gathered to the head with a circlet of orange blossoms. A shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, white heather and maidenhair fern completed the bride's toilet.

Miss Kathleen Wootton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in a frock of peach taffeta, and Miss May Wootton and Miss Cecilia Carson were the two bridesmaids, the one in pastel green and the other in palest primrose taffeta. The brides were made alike with sleeveless bodices and bertha of georgette, the full skirts being shirred at the waist, with scalloped uneven hemlines. With these were worn drooping picture hats of pale beige mohair with silk to match the gowns and finished with clusters of French flowers on the right hip. Each carried a sheaf of asters and maidenhair fern. Two tiny flower girls, Claire and Claire, both of georgette, and the ushers were Messrs. W. F. Y. Wootton, R. A. Wootton, A. J. H. Wootton and Mr. Douglas Wilson.

After the service a reception was held at the Wootton home on Victoria Avenue, where a large number of guests assembled to offer congratulations to the happy pair. The bride and groom received on the lawn before a rustic arch of ivy and dahlias, and were assisted by Mrs. Wootton in a smart gown of deep lavender taffeta trimmed with cut velvet to tone, and black straw hat trimmed with the same material, and by Mrs. Stewart in navy blue flowered georgette and hat en suite.

Refreshments were served in the dining-room, where the table was centred with a silver vase of palest yellow carnations and stocks and sprays of apple blossoms. Sweet peas in abundance were arranged throughout the house. The many and beautiful presents were displayed in the billiard room.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left on a honeymoon trip up the island, and on their return will make their home in a smart ensemble of navy blue charmeuse, the coat being lined with beige georgette to match the dress bodice, and was finished with a beaute mohair applied with shamrocks of different colors.

A large number of guests were present from Duncan to attend the wedding.

Of course you have heard loads and seen more of those velvet and chiffon ensembles that are floating around the country club lawns and appearing at your favorite dance places. Here is another of them that is so perfectly adorable that I could not resist presenting it to you. The frock is made of hand-blocked chiffon scarfs in grey with touches of purple. They are draped together in an interesting way over an orchid foundation. The coat to go with it is of a deep purple-blue transparent chiffon velvet. The model features the scarf neck. Even the hat is made to complete the ensemble. It is of grey felt, the brim being of purple velvet and straw.

HAPPY EVENT
COMMEMORATEDMrs. Tolmie Receives Bouquet From Women's Conservative
Association

A pleasant feature of the Conservative picnic at the Willows Park yesterday was the presentation at the opening of the proceedings of a monster bouquet to Mrs. S. F. Tolmie by the Women's Conservative Association. The bouquet was contributed for the occasion by Savory & Company.

In making the presentation, Miss Lottie Bowron referred to the pride which all native sons and daughters of British Columbia had in the election of Dr. Tolmie to the position that he was now about to occupy. The hospitality of the Tolmie home was well known and in this connection Mrs. Tolmie played a large part. "Mrs. Tolmie, we ask you to take special care of Dr. Tolmie in the future," said Miss Bowron, in addressing the wife of the leader, from whom so much was expected.

"We hope that the future holds for you and Dr. Tolmie the happiest years you have ever had," she added.

"Look at him and see whether I have taken good care of him," said Mrs. Tolmie, following her thanks for the bouquet and good wishes.

Dr. Tolmie later thanked the ladies for the way in which they had remembered Mrs. Tolmie, and also took occasion to refer to the thoughtfulness of the ladies of Saanich in presenting himself with a horseshoe of flowers a few nights before the election. That emblem had later been provided by the ladies with everlasting flowers instead of the original, and he still prized it, especially in view of the form which it took and which assured good luck to him.

Court Maple Leaf

Court Maple Leaf, A.O.F., held its fortnightly meeting on Monday, when a great deal of business was transacted in making final arrangements for the annual convention of the Island district, which will be held in Victoria this year on August 20 and 21, also the appointment of a sewing committee to make ready for the approaching sale of work. The social committee announced that arrangements were well under way for the annual Labor Day dance which will be jointly managed with a committee from Court Liberty. After the business meeting was closed the social committee provided a splendid programme for the remainder of the evening to entertain the visiting members and friends. The programme included solos, community singing and dancing. The committee served ice cream and the evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem about 11:30 o'clock.

Court Liberty, A.O.F., will hold a beach party at Spoon Bay on Saturday evening. "Hot dogs" and coffee will be served. Members and friends are asked to bring their musical instruments, and should take the Uplands car to Lansdowne road.

New Coolie Coat for Beach
Evening or Boudoir

NOW for your coolie coat! You can wear it for a beach coat, for a Summer evening coat, for a negligee. You can make it of chamois, of erpe de Chine, of satin. It is easy to make—and easy to wear. Good looking, too, and the last thing in smartness.

You will see from the diagram just how simple the thing is to make. The sketch shows one of the Chinese coolie coats, with the pattern stamped on in the regulation fashion. But the coat is just as effective if made of a solid color with a colored band around the neck and down the fronts, or with appliques cut from some other material and sewed on—or, better still, if made from some thin figured material with a Chinese or Japanese design.

From the diagram you will see that the coat is made from a double length of material forty-two inches long—or a little longer or shorter, as you wish. That is to say, you will need about two and a third yards for the length of the coat. Then you will need a strip twenty-four inches long for the sleeves. Now, allowing a few inches for hems, three yards and a quarter will do very well.

Now fold crosswise a stripe of the material eighty-eight inches long. This gives you a doubled piece forty-four inches long, which allows for a two-inch hem at the bottom. You will see that the diagram calls for a double fold forty-two inches long—which does not allow for the hem.

Now split the length of the material from hem edge to fold at top in the center, and slant each side from the center at the bottom to a point, two and a half inches from the center at the top. This makes a neck opening five inches wide and makes the fronts slightly bias. Now cut two pieces twenty-four inches long and fourteen inches wide, fold them crosswise, and lay them on each side of the big piece, for sleeves. Join them to the big piece with French seams or fells. Seam the skirt portion together from the bottom of the sleeve to the hem edge. Seam up the sleeves at the bottom, and face them back with a piece of contrasting color. Now cut a strip four and a half inches wide and long enough to go all around the front opening of the coat—that is, about ninety inches. Turn under a two-inch hem at the bottom of the coat and hem it lightly by hand. Now put the strip on along the front, from hem edge to neck, across the five-inch opening of the neck, and then down the other front. Seam it, about a quarter of an inch, laying the right sides together. Then press the seam toward the strip, fold the strip so that it is two inches wide, turn under a quarter inch and hem lightly over the seams.

That's all there is to it. If you make this binding of some other material, you must buy enough for it. It may be cut crosswise. If you make the binding of the same material, then you must buy an extra strip of the material. Supposing it is twenty-eight inches wide—you will need to buy four widths. You can manage with half a yard extra, probably, for you really have a little left over from the sleeve lengths.

tern stamped on in the regulation fashion. But the coat is just as effective if made of a solid color with a colored band around the neck and down the fronts, or with appliques cut from some other material and sewed on—or, better still, if made from some thin figured material with a Chinese or Japanese design.

From the diagram you will see that the coat is made from a double length of material forty-two inches long—or a little longer or shorter, as you wish. That is to say, you will need about two and a third yards for the length of the coat. Then you will need a strip twenty-four inches long for the sleeves. Now, allowing a few inches for hems, three yards and a quarter will do very well.

Now fold crosswise a stripe of the material eighty-eight inches long. This gives you a doubled piece forty-four inches long, which allows for a two-inch hem at the bottom. You will see that the diagram calls for a double fold forty-two inches long—which does not allow for the hem.

Now split the length of the material from hem edge to fold at top in the center, and slant each side from the center at the bottom to a point, two and a half inches from the center at the top. This makes a neck opening five inches wide and makes the fronts slightly bias. Now cut two pieces twenty-four inches long and fourteen inches wide, fold them crosswise, and lay them on each side of the big piece, for sleeves. Join them to the big piece with French seams or fells. Seam the skirt portion together from the bottom of the sleeve to the hem edge. Seam up the sleeves at the bottom, and face them back with a piece of contrasting color. Now cut a strip four and a half inches wide and long enough to go all around the front opening of the coat—that is, about ninety inches. Turn under a two-inch hem at the bottom of the coat and hem it lightly by hand. Now put the strip on along the front, from hem edge to neck, across the five-inch opening of the neck, and then down the other front. Seam it, about a quarter of an inch, laying the right sides together. Then press the seam toward the strip, fold the strip so that it is two inches wide, turn under a quarter inch and hem lightly over the seams.

That's all there is to it. If you make this binding of some other material, you must buy enough for it. It may be cut crosswise. If you make the binding of the same material, then you must buy an extra strip of the material. Supposing it is twenty-eight inches wide—you will need to buy four widths. You can manage with half a yard extra, probably, for you really have a little left over from the sleeve lengths.

Fire at Galiano

GALIANO, Aug. 15.—Fire was reported on Sunday near Grey's Montague Harbor. Chief Ranger O'Grady and Ranger Finlay Murison arrived with a gang of fire fighters and a rainfall helped to prevent the fire spreading. The fire covers about two acres, but is well in control.

A traveler in the South chatted with an aged negro whom he met on the road.

"And I suppose you were once a slave?" he remarked.

"Yes, suh," the old colored man answered.

"And so, after the war, you gained your freedom," the gentleman continued.

"No, suh," he declared with great emphasis. "Not perfectly, suh; I didn't get mah freedom, suh, after de war—I done got married!"

THE HIDDEN SPRINGS OF POWER

A man who is too lazy to shave off his beard may make the excuse that it is bad for the throat to be clean shaven. Some still claim that it is wrong to shave because God intended the flowing beard for man's protection and decoration.

Many cling to habits of the past because of mental inertia and the fact that it takes a certain amount of physical and mental effort to change to new habits, even though they may be food ones.

The willingness to experiment with new ideas is a crowning glory of human achievement. There was a time when one who attempted to change from an established custom was looked upon as a heretic and was shunned by other members of the tribe.

Many people fall into the habit of drifting into a certain groove of thinking, and they fail to realize their hidden powers. As is related in a Hindoo fable, there was once a lioness who, while heavy with young, went about in search of food. She fell upon a flock of sheep, but the shepherd, about her death, while yet dying, a young lion was born to her and grew up with the sheep. All the time thinking he was a sheep. He learned to nibble grass and to feel like the rest of the flock, tramping about and playing with them, until one day another lion came upon the scene. This visiting lion was amazed to see the other young lion acting like a sheep, and he said to him: "Don't you know that you are a lion?" And the young lion answered: "No, I am a sheep," and started to bleat. Whereupon the other lion took him down to the edge of the water and made him look at his own reflection. A great revelation came to him, as he realized for the first time he was really a lion. Consequently, his whole attitude changed, and he let out a roar that rocked the hillside. At once he felt the strength of a lion, and he and the other lion pounced upon the flock of sheep and had a good meal.

There are many people going through life who have the power and strength far greater than they realize. They must be awakened. As long as they bleat about their weakness, they can expect and receive weakness. When they come to a sudden realization of the strength which is really theirs, they will be like a lion in strength.

In an emergency, most people have far more strength than they realize. If they would tap this power of life they would be astonished at their success in the world.

Live and be as your own true self, and cast off the sheepish qualities and inferiority complexes which may be retarding your progress. Build yourself, improve day by day, both physically and mentally. Build your body with the most efficient foods, and improve your mind by reading the best books and conversing with the most successful and intelligent of your friends.

The road to happiness must be paved with successful accomplishments, and it passes through fields cultivated by self-improvement.

CHILD CRUSHED
BY FALLING LOGSON OF MR. AND MRS. FAIR-BAIRN SEVERELY INJURED
AT COURTENAY

Pinned to Ground While Watching Passing Train of Cars at Level Crossing

COURTENAY, Aug. 15.—Pat Fairbairn, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. D. Fairbairn, of Victoria, was severely injured here on Tuesday afternoon.

With his mother, he is staying here with Mrs. Alice Tuck, and the little chap was watching the big logs go by on the flat-cars of the Comox Logging Company's Railway at the level crossing on Union Street. The engine and the first car had barely passed when, without the slightest warning, two of the logs rolled off one of the cars, pinning the child to the ground, where he remained until the rest of the long train went past, and until Messrs. D. T. Steel, Jack Hawthorne, H. Bryant and E. Hellen managed to pry the log off the boy's leg. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital at Comox. His father is leaving Victoria for Courtenay immediately.

Committee to Report

There will be a meeting of residents of the district at 8:30 p.m. on Monday, August 27, in Metochin Hall, to hear the report of the building committee, and consider the proposed plan, an alternative to be submitted, enabling an early start to be made on the alterations. All residents are asked to make a point of being present.

Accidental Death
Is Jury's Verdict

DUNCAN, Aug. 15.—The coroner's jury empaneled to inquire into the death of Reginald Ansel Gruchy, of Ladysmith, who was killed when his car was hit by an E. & N. Railway engine at Chemainus, last week, returned a verdict of accidental death, with no blame attached to the train crew.

The inquest was conducted by the coroner, Dr. H. P. Swan, of Duncan. Mr. Gray, of Vancouver, represented the company, while Mr. C. F. Davie, of Duncan, looked after the interests of the deceased's family.

The witnesses in the case were Griffith Timothy, conductor; D. Davy, engineer; J. C. McLennan, fireman; Mr. J. D. Fraser, railway superintendent; H. Oulette, of Crofton, and John M. Bideil, of Victoria, an eye-witness of the accident.

Chen Min King Must Find New Sureties
Or Go to Oakalla

NANAIMO, Aug. 15.—As a result of the Attorney-General having ordered a jury trial in the charge against Chen Min King of importing opium into Canada, a new bail bond became necessary. The accused was taken into custody yesterday afternoon and appeared before His Honor Judge Barker. His Honor made an order directing that bail in the sum of $20,000 be furnished with not more than three sureties, the sureties to justify before the clerk of the peace and reasonable notice to be given the Crown counsel and Provincial Police to enable them to inquire into the sufficiency of the bail. It is stated that Pon Tin, who was on the bond before, has withdrawn, and that so far satisfactory bondsmen have not been produced. In the event of satisfactory bail not being produced within a day or two, the accused will be taken to Oakalla to await his trial at the Fall assizes, which will not take place until November. Mr. T. P. Morton appeared for the Crown, and Mr. V. B. Harrison for the accused.

FAIR COMMITTEE
SHAPING PLANS

Meeting Held in Courtenay Agricultural Hall to Discuss Details of Comox Event

COURTENAY, Aug. 15.—The fair committee of the Comox Fair met in the Agricultural Hall on Tuesday night to further discuss details of the programme for Fair Day, September 12. Particulars of the pony races were gone into and an invitation is being sent to Mrs. E. Kennedy at Qualicum Beach to bring her ponies here for the event. It was decided to ask the district engineer, Mr. Beavan, to co-operate with the use of ropes so that the public can be kept off the course at the turn of the races. It is also intended to rope off a ring for the cattle judging and to use the track for judging the horses. It was suggested that judges give their reasons for placing the various animals on Fair Day, as this is considered to be in the interests of education. Reports were made by various chairmen of committees when it was evident that both Mayor McKenzie and the Native Sons are determined to co-operate to the fullest to help make the fair a success.

The official opening by Hon. Dr. Tolmie, premier-elect, was arranged to take place at 1:15 p.m. on Wednesday, September 12. Other details were arranged for Scottish dancing and other amusement.

Y.P. League Members
Given Entertainment

DUNCAN, Aug. 15.—Forty members of the Young People's League of the United Church were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Platt at their home, Herd Road, Maple Bay, on Monday evening. This is an annual event in the league and is always looked forward to with pleasant anticipation. The early part of the evening was spent outdoors, playing softball and other group games. Later an enjoyable sing-song was held, and refreshments served by Miss Mabel Platt, assisted by Miss Ada Burkholder. Mr. and Mrs. Platt were accorded hearty thanks for their kind hospitality.

The young people will have charge of the evening service on Sunday evening next, the address to be given by Mr. Arnold Platt.

Seeking to Make Radiators Beautiful

Gurney Artist-Engineers
Also Found a Way
To Make Them More Efficient

What ugly things those thick, old-fashioned radiators were! How different are the new Gurney Copley Radiators. Note in the picture above, the slender grace of the water-tubes. Note, too, the greater air-space between them. That is most important. It means more air can circulate around the tubes—your rooms can be warmed much more quickly. You get more warmth with less fuel.

SEMI-FINALS IN SENIORS' GOLF TOURNEY REACHED

CAPITAL CITY NOW HAS THREE VETERANS IN CHAMPIONSHIP GROUP

A. T. Goward, J. A. Sayward and J. E. Wilson Are Victoria's Representatives, While F. Halstead, of Honolulu, Is Sole Survivor Among Visitors—Finalists Will Be Named Today

Defeat of J. W. Morris, the Medalist In First Round Is Great Surprise

Three Victorians are among the semi-finalists in the grand championship in the sixth annual Seniors' Northwest golf tournament, now in progress at the Victoria Golf Club, as a result of their victories in the first and second rounds of match play yesterday. A. T. Goward, J. A. Sayward and J. E. Wilson are the Capital City's representatives, while the lone invader is F. Halstead, of Honolulu.

W. C. Butler, of Everett, gave Goward a stiff match in the first round when he took him to the nineteenth hole before admitting defeat. The other semi-finalists were their matches with apparent ease.

J. Sobey, of Seattle, who was eliminated in the second round, created a sensation in the opening round when he decisively defeated J. W. Morris, of this city, by 7 and 5. Morris showed the way on the opening day in the medal play when he negotiated the layout in 80. The old tradition that the medalist rarely survives the match play was again served by yesterday's results.

WEATHER IDEAL
The veterans enjoyed another ideal day for golf when Old Man Sol treated them to a bright sunshine throughout. In the class "A" championship, Victoria has one representative in the semi-finals in the person of A. C. Plummer, while in class "B," J. E. Miller and F. Nation reached the semi-finals. All the local veterans were eliminated in class "C." A. Sheret and R. Musgrave will carry Victoria's colors into the semi-finals of class "D" championship. The finalists of all the flights will be named today. Several close matches were played yesterday, the longest match being in the ninth flight when E. L. Howard, of Seattle, lost to W. L. Rhodes, also of Seattle, at the twenty-first hole. In the twelfth flight P. W. Jones, of Victoria, and F. J. Martin, of Seattle, went to the twentieth hole before a decision was reached, the former winning one up. There were two other games decided at the nineteenth hole.

One of the most bitterly-fought matches of the day's play was between L. A. Lewis, of New Westminster, a former champion, and P. T. McCollough, of Spokane. The former came out victorious after going to the nineteenth hole. Dr. O. J. West, of Seattle, who won the putting contest on the opening day, was tied with Wallace Langley, also of Seattle, for the putting honors with 36 each.

THE RESULTS
The results of yesterday's match play follow:

Hamilton to Get First of Empire Sport Meetings

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—A special cable from London published by The Toronto Star today says that a meeting was held under the chairmanship of Lord Desborough at Stamford Bridge yesterday at which the advisability of holding British Empire games on the plan of the Olympic every four years was discussed and generally approved. Canada, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa and India were represented as well as Britain. An application for the British Empire games in 1930 for Hamilton, Ontario, was approved and passed on for action by the permanent body, when it is fully organized.

McNaughton to Battle Foley

Flashy Quebec Lightweight Will Meet Pacific Coast Scrapper on August 22
QUEBEC, Aug. 15.—Ralph McNaughton, flashy Quebec lightweight, who recently put himself in line for a shot at Kid Roy's lightweight crown through a hair-line decision over Vic Foley, Vancouver contender, has signed to meet the West Coast boy in a return bout here on August 22. By the terms of the contract, the winner of the bout will fight Kid Roy for his lightweight crown early next month. If McNaughton defeats Foley in the match on August 22, Roy and McNaughton will likely fight for the title in Quebec. If Foley wins, Roy and Foley probably will fight in Vancouver about the middle of September.

MORGAN TO MEET WILDCAT CARTER IN SIX-ROUND GO

SEATTLE, Aug. 15.—Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion of the world, will meet "Wildcat" Carter in a six-round battle at the Seattle Auditorium, September 4. It was announced here yesterday by Austin & Bishop, promoters. Morgan's title will not be at stake.

Old Country Cricket

Derbyshire 181; Yorkshire 137 for one wicket.

Gloucester 304; Surrey 85 for two wickets.

Kent 277 (Macdonald seven for 101); Lancashire 98 for no wickets.

Sussex 123; Somerset 41 for three wickets.

Leicestershire vs. Hampshire: Leicestershire 444 for nine wickets (Bradshaw 140).

Northants 164; Nottingham 256 for eight wickets.

Glamorgan vs. Essex: Essex 405 for 11 wickets (Crawley 222).

No Ill Feeling When Americans Win Abroad

Walter Hagen Compares U.S. Golf Victories in the Old Country With Other Athletic Contests in Which Bad Feeling Prevails

By Walter Hagen
British Open Golf Champion
American Professional Golf Champion
(Copyright 1928, in all countries, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

DETROIT, Aug. 14.—It seems strange to golfers who have been very often in Great Britain and on the Continent to read of the various rows which get under way when international contests other than golf are being conducted over on the other side. For golfers from America have never had anything but the most enjoyable experiences abroad.

In the seven visits I have made to the Old Country to play in golf championship matches—and British championships have been won practically every time by Americans—I never have seen any demonstration of bad feeling.

Golf must be different from other sports, and I believe that it is for the reason that in golf there is such an element of luck, one way or the other, that no player expects to win all the time and therefore becomes more accustomed to taking it "on the chin" and learning to accept defeat gracefully.

The trouble with Olympic Games competition is that it only happens once in four years, and when the boys of the various nations get together it is a case of "now or never." Many of the contestants are in a sport which wears them out quickly. They are very apt to find themselves at top form for only one Olympic meeting and the desire to win must be very keen.

Therefore, arguments are apt to arise.

In golf we always know that even if we are beaten today, tomorrow or next week, there will be another opportunity, and when it comes we may be playing better, or the breaks may be with us.

So in golf nearly all tournament players have learned to take victory and defeat as more a matter of course and for practically all golfers the real thrill of the game is not in winning, but in hitting the ball well.

I never feel badly when I lose a golf match provided I have hit the ball in a manner to satisfy me. The only time I get annoyed is when I fail to hit the shots I've been thinking about and expecting to pull off.

In all of the golf championships I have been in and all the matches I have played, I cannot remember of having had a single serious argument with my competitors. I cannot imagine the spectators at an international golf match getting into a row over the decisions of an umpire or the result of a match. It may be that some forms of international sporting competition do not foster good will as they are supposed to do, but I am confident that golf does do much for international good will, and I think any of our amateurs or professionals who have played on the other side will agree to this.

Next Spring the American professional golf team will go to Europe to play the French professionals in Paris, to play in the German open championships in Berlin, to play in the British open championships at Muirfield and to play in the regular Ryder Cup match with the British professionals.

Captain of the American professional team I can say that our players will do the best they can

Over 500 Naval Men to Compete in Sports Today

TODAY will be navy day at the Royal Athletic Park, when the City of Victoria entertains the visiting sailors on H.M.S. Durban. H.M.S. Despatch and H.M.C.S. Vancouver with a comprehensive sports programme. That competition will be keen is evinced by the fact that no fewer than 200 men from the Durban will participate in the sports, while another 180 will compete from the Despatch, not to mention the men from H.M.C.S. Vancouver, the Naval Barracks and Navy Dockyard. The sports start at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

to win in all these engagements, but if we lose none of us will consider it a national calamity. No tears will be spilled and no squawks made, and there will be no rows with officials and no engagements between American spectators and those of the other countries.

As a matter of fact it wouldn't be such a bad thing for golf if some of the other fellows did win, for it would create more interest in international golf competition which must lose some of its zest if it becomes a too one-sided proposition.

Another thing about golf is that some of the famous courses of the world are in the Old Country, and our golfers enjoy playing on these courses. It is an experience well worth the trip and gives more lasting satisfaction than the winning of a championship on a match.

I notice the talk among American golfers who have been in Europe is not concerning how a championship was won or lost, or an international match won or lost, but about the relative merits of some of the world famous seaside links, such as St. Andrews, Troon, Prestwick, Muirfield and those on the Kent Coast of England.

RECORD RUN

The longest run in the record books is credited to J. Saunders, of New York City, who covered 120 miles and 275 yards in 22 hours and 40 minutes back in 1882.

O.S.K. OFFICIAL HERE YESTERDAY

Mr. S. Uchida, General Manager at Seattle, Bound for Holiday in the Orient

Loaded down with a capacity cargo of wheat, lumber, copper and automobiles, and drawing twenty-eight feet of water at the bow, the Osaka Maru, arrived at Rihet piers at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and sailed for Japan at 6:15.

The vessel's passenger list of eleven first class and forty steerage, included Mr. S. Uchida, general manager for the O.S.K. at Seattle, with Mrs. Uchida and family, returning to Japan for two months' holiday.

Mr. Uchida was in the city last month, spending two weeks at Sooke Harbor. Upon arrival here he was met by several local Japanese and officials headed by Mr. K. Ishii, who presented Mrs. Uchida with a large bouquet of flowers.

Others in the party included Mr. A. E. Shanks, local O.S.K. agent; Mr. H. B. Earling, vice-president of the Milwaukee Railroad; Dr. A. D. Rouffier, head company physician, and Mr. A. P. Chapman, Jr., local Milwaukee agent.

Starting with the Osaka Shosen

On board the Osaka Maru yesterday was a small shipment of golf balls for Japan. The game is popular there with keen interest, according to Mr. Uchida. Experts from Scotland are brought out to lay out modern courses.

Oscar Butler, middleweight wrestling champion of America; Bill Thornton, light-heavyweight, and Bill Donovan, heavyweight, were on board the ship bound for Japan.

Mr. Butler wrestled at 160 pounds, Mr. Thornton at 178 pounds, and Mr. Donovan at 200 pounds. They have matches arranged at Kobe by Mr. M. Matayemon, Japanese promoter, and will later tour the country, taking on all comers, either jujitsu or American style. All three men have wrestled in all parts of Canada and the United States.

Mr. Donovan, eight years ago, held the light-heavyweight wrestling championship of Canada, and in Japan will meet such wrestlers as Hiyama, Miyaki and Takahashi. The wrestlers plan to spend five months in Japan, and hope to arrange bouts with several Russian residents there, they will proceed to Australia, and later to the United States next year.

SEA CADETS CAMP COMES TO CLOSE

The Victoria Sea Cadets, who have been camping at View Royal for two weeks, broke camp on Tuesday. Half the boys were conveyed to Victoria by members of the Victoria Club, while the remainder went to the naval college wharf in a launch and carried aboard by Commander P. W. Nelles. The cadets will depart for Esquimalt were taken aboard H.M.S. Durban.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Mariners are hereby notified that Aids to Navigation have been established at the entrance to False Bay, Laquet Island, B.C., as follows:

1. An unattended occulting white acetylene gas light on the starboard side of channel.

2. A day beacon painted white on the southeast point at entrance to bay.

"LADY BETTY"

By JOHN L. CARTER

Author of "The Cinema Girl," "Peggie the Aeronaut," Etc.

CHAPTER XVII

Lady Betty had been secretly glad when her father announced his intention of having his portrait painted by Jimmy. It seemed to her that it would be a sort of link. It is true that Lord Alister had not told her, but Miss Graebly had had no such scruples, and truculently assured her that they would very soon have authentic evidence as to Jimmy's "carryings on."

After about a week of daily sittings Lord Alister was in a fairly good position to judge of Jimmy's mode of life, and as Miss Graebly was continually pestering him for particulars, it was only natural that she should come by a fairly comprehensive knowledge of Jimmy's ménage. Lord Alister was fair-minded enough and would have been the last to impute evil to Jimmy, but this was not the way of Henrietta Graebly. She speedily put two and two together, and if they came to five, that was the fault of her very vivid imagination. And as soon as she had worked up what she thought was a thoroughly damning case against Jimmy, she began to do her best to effect for Lady Betty a permanent cure.

"Mr. Crackling told me yesterday that he intends to call this afternoon," she began one day immediately after lunch. "Need I tell you what he wishes to ask me?"

"I would rather you didn't," said Lady Betty firmly.

"That is always the way," cried Miss Graebly. "It does not seem to matter to you how much you offend me or Mr. Crackling, so long as you get your own way, and all for this worthless Weston!"

"That will do, aunt!" Lady Betty warned her.

"No, it will not do!" retorted Miss Graebly. "It happens that I know more about him than you think. He is living a most dissolute life, and you, you poor blind little thing, refuse to believe it. You fondly imagine that he is eating his heart out for you, and so you insist on eating your own out for him. I have proof, I tell you."

Lady Betty rose with the intention of leaving her aunt, but she instantly changed her mind, and decided that she would go right to the bottom of it there and then.

"What do you mean, Aunt Henrietta?" she demanded. "Say what you have to say. I promise I will not interrupt."

"Very well then," Miss Graebly began defiantly. "Mr. Weston never gives you so much as a single thought. He has got another love by now. You will say that the girl is just an ordinary model, but that is not true. She was a governess in respectable employment until he set his eyes on her. Then he got her to throw up her post and go and live with him."

"Not live!" cried Lady Betty, indignant and anxious.

Miss Graebly smiled a very superior smile.

"Certainly he took rooms for her in a separate building, but still, she spends all her time alone with him at the studio."

"She is just a model then, and nothing more," insisted Lady Betty.

"My poor dear!" protested Miss Graebly. "A man never has a model with him all the day and half the night, unless—well the truth is that they live together to all intents and purposes. She has her meals with him, and does all sorts of intimate little services for him. I am sorry to have to be the one to tell you, but you really must be told. And the time will come when you will be grateful to me."

"I don't believe a word of it!" cried Lady Betty.

"That does not alter the fact," replied Miss Graebly. "An artist does not get a girl who is happy and doing well as a governess to give up her career merely because he wants a model. Models are cheap enough. No, there is more than mere art in this arrangement. Besides, he admits that she does not sit to anyone else. Imagine it! He keeps her entirely to himself! The thing is so very obvious!"

"And who is your authority?" demanded Lady Betty, her heart sinking in spite of herself.

"Your father," said Miss Graebly. "I will go and see father and ask him for myself," cried Lady Betty. "I am going down to him at the office at once."

"But what about Mr. Crackling?" queried Miss Graebly. "He is expecting to see you."

"He will have to manage with you, then," flashed Lady Betty.

"You are very impolite," returned her aunt. "I am sure he intended to propose to you."

"Well, you can tell him that I will marry him the moment I find that Jimmy has done as you say. That shows you how much I believe your wild tale."

And with that she ran out of the room, and hurried off to Fleet Street.

"This is a surprise, Betty!" he said. "I was just settling down to work. You see these sittings for Jimmy take so much of my time. Indeed I have only just come back from one."

Lady Betty regarded him dubiously for a moment.

"It is about him that I came," she said. "I want to know whether he has forgotten me."

"Really, Betty!" he began.

"Don't be disappointed in me, father," she pleaded. "Aunt Henrietta goes on just as though I were a most amazingly wicked person. Tell me whether it is true that Jimmy has found someone else to love?"

Lord Alister looked everywhere but into her eyes.

"My dear Betty, how can I tell?"

"Aunt Henrietta seems to think you can," she replied drily.

"Perhaps your aunt is prejudiced," he said. "I have never said anything of the sort."

"Father, I want the truth," she said with tears in her eyes. "You don't know how much it means to me."

Lord Alister turned away with a groan. He was bitterly disappointed.

Her aunt had assured him that she had forgotten Jimmy. He held out his arms, instinctively, and with a little cry Lady Betty threw herself on his breast and sobbed out her trouble.

"Aunt Henrietta says he is living with someone. Jimmy couldn't do that. Tell me father, is it true?"

Lord Alister did his best to soothe her.

"But why trouble your head about that?" he said. "I thought you two were going to be sensible and make the best of things."

"I want to know if Jimmy has got anyone else," she insisted.

"He has a model certainly. But she is without doubt a very respectable girl."

"I don't care what she is. Is he in love with her? I must know, father. If you don't tell me, I must find out for myself."

"You don't mean that you would go to Jimmy?" queried the old man anxiously.

"I must find out," she said desperately. "Is it nothing to me? But I will not believe this about Jimmy. When he married Madame Bovier just to save his friend, he thought I had given him up and nothing mattered. But it is not so now. He knows that I shall always love him. He could not possibly think of anyone else!"

"I agree," said Lord Alister soothingly. "And this girl is nothing but a model, a very pretty model."

Lady Betty caught her breath.

"Pretty, is she? Prettier than I?"

"Quite a different type. She's not English," he said. Then he sighed. "I am afraid your aunt has not kept perfect faith with me."

Lady Betty looked at him with perhaps a shade of triumph in her face.

"I did not want her to come with us," she reminded him. "You see, I am not a child. She has tried to coax me, and shame me, and threaten me, until I felt like running away from home at times."

Lord Alister looked utterly surprised.

"You don't mean to say so!" he cried. "Why, she assured me that you had given up all thought of Jimmy. She even said that you were growing to like Mr. Crackling. So Henrietta has fooled me!"

"You took her so much for granted," Lady Betty reminded him.

"But why did you not tell me about her goings on?" he queried apologetically.

"Why should I?" she replied. "You did not consult me when you sent for her. And you know mother always warned you not to let her have charge of me."

"But she had no right to distort facts. She made me believe that you were interested in Mr. Crackling."

Lady Betty was in a strange, rebellious mood.

"Perhaps I am," she said curtly. "But that is not her affair."

"But you still love Jimmy?" he said uneasily.

"I like Mr. Crackling. I like him more than anyone else, except Jimmy," she said.

"You are sure you could not love him?"

"I love no one but Jimmy. If there had been no Jimmy I think I should have been very glad to have had Mr. Crackling care for me. He is so understanding, and so manly."

Ottawa to Name Board to Manage Loans to Farmers

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—With the return to Ottawa within the next ten days of Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, definite steps will probably be taken to put into operation the legislation of 1927 authorizing farm credits.

The first step, it is stated, will likely be the appointment of a central board to be known as the Canadian Farm Loan Board. Under the statute, this board will be composed of four members, one of which will be the Minister of Finance. Three appointments will consequently have to be made. While a number of names are mentioned, it is improbable that any selections will be made until Mr. Robb's return from Europe.

Six provinces have passed the necessary legislation electing to come under the scheme. These are Quebec, Alberta, Manitoba, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Ontario, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island have not as yet taken steps in this direction.

BOARD SHIP IN BASKET

When high seas recently prevented the use of the companion ladder, passengers for the liner Lindaverg, at Port Elizabeth, South Africa, had to be placed in a basket, which was swung to the deck by means of a derrick. The basket was shaped like an elevator car and had a door

Give Your WANT ADS Every Chance to Pay Out

THERE are four things to keep in mind in using Want Ads. They are: the market, the price, the particular character of your offer, and the wording of your Want Ad. Assuming that your market and price are fair and that your offer is a desirable one, the greatest factor for the consideration of the Want advertiser is the wording of his offer.

A Want Ad is a little thing, but its small size does not indicate that it can be constructed without effort or thought. Want Ads are remunerative in direct proportion to the amount of effort and thought that is expended on them.

The next time you write a Want Ad make a list of the important factors of your offer. In the panel above you will find lists of details of such classifications as Real Estate, Automobiles, Help Wanted, etc., which will help you in picking out the important features of your offer. When you have listed all the outstanding features of your offer, make a new tabulation in which these various factors are recorded in the order of their importance. Then write your Want Ad. Or, better yet, come in, or phone in, and let one of our experts give you their professional assistance—without charge, of course.

Duncan Tennis Gets Away to Good Start

Several Close Matches on Opening Day at Vancouver Island Championships at Up-Island Centre—Victoria Entries Well to Front

DUNCAN, Aug. 15.—Under splendid playing conditions, the open tournament of the Duncan Lawn Tennis Club got away to a good start today when about fifty matches were wiped off. The entry includes players from Seattle, Vancouver, Victoria, Salt Spring Island, Courtenay, Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Chemainus and Shawnigan Lake, as well as the local stars.

Some exceptionally hard fought matches were played. In the mixed doubles Miss D. Geoghegan and C. W. L. King defeated Harold McLean (Vancouver) and Miss V. Stilwell, in a close three-set match, thirty-seven games being played before annexing a victory.

Des Crofton and Mrs. Speed, of Salt Spring Island, put up a good fight against Miss M. Leeming and M. Gordon, forcing the champions to fourteen games in the first set. Steve Jones and Miss Rithet (Victoria) were taken into a three-set match, the last set reaching 9-7, against R. G. Christy (Victoria) and Mrs. Easton. H. S. Flett (Victoria) and Mrs. Poole were also taken into three sets against M. Wallich and Mrs. Springett. C. Hodgson and Miss D. Swayne (Victoria), annexed a win against E. Leney and Miss W. Walby (South Cowichan) only after three sets. Bob Schwengers (Victoria) and Mrs. Rigby (Vancouver), also had to work hard to annex a win against A. G. Tisdall and Miss S. Tisdall, the losers taking the first set 7-5.

In the ladies' doubles Mrs. Godding and Miss E. Jones played fine tennis to defeat Miss Hope Leeming and Miss Dawson-Thomas, in a three-set match. Another good ladies' doubles was seen when Mrs. Walby and Miss M. Walby defeated Mrs. Charlesworth and Mrs. Speed (Salt Spring Island), in a three-set match.

BILL TILDEN IS AGAIN IN TROUBLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Bill Tilden definitely will not be allowed to play on the Eastern tour in the East-West tennis matches Friday and Saturday, at Forest Hills, it was announced today by P. Schuyler Van Riem, vice-president of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association.

Bloom said his company had made this decision because it felt it would not be sportsmanlike to use a player against whom charges are pending. Tilden, accused of violating the amateur player-writer rule, is to be "tried" by the United States Lawn Tennis Association on August 24.

GOOD SHOOTING CONTINUES AT DOMINION MEET

Sergeant J. H. Regan, 16th Canadian Scottish, Appears to Be in Line for Grand Aggregate

OTTAWA MATCH WON BY GARRISON TEAM

There was no relief from the terrible heat for the third day of the D.C.R. meet, but scoring still continued phenomenally high. Sgt. J. H. Regan, of the Canadian Scottish, appears to be in line for the grand aggregate, with only the first stage of the Governor-General's match to be added.

Shooting today in the City of Ottawa match, ten shots each at 300 and 600 yards. Sgt. B. W. Beaumont led the British Columbia team with a score of 97, taking sixth place in the match. Other British Columbia scores in the prize list were: Sgt. J. H. Regan, 97; Lieut. Fyvie, 96; Cadet Captain N. Perry, 95; Q.M.S. A. E. Evans, 95; Sgt. Burton, 95; Captain P. Gardiner, 94; Lieut.-Colonel R. M. Blair, 94; Master Gunner H. Collings, 94; Bdr. P. Wilkinson, 94; D. McIntosh, 94; M. W. H. Ruffell, 93; Captain W. G. Colquhoun, 92; Sgt. T. R. Davies, 92; C.M.S. W. H. Wood, 92; Pte. I. M. Grant, 91.

In the Macdonald Brier match, ten shots each at 300 and 600 yards, Sgt. J. H. Regan led the British Columbia men with a score of 96. Other scores were: Lieut.-Colonel M. Blair, 95; Sgt. J. H. Regan, 94; Sgt. T. R. Davies, 94; C.M.S. H. W. Woods, 94; Lieut. D. Fyvie, 94; Bdr. P. Wilkinson, 94; S-M W. H. Ruffell, 93; Captain W. G. Colquhoun, 92; Captain G. C. Holland, 92; Sgt. B. W. Moriarty at Bat

Manager of Detroit Tigers Comments on Different Angles of Pitchers' Fame—Tells of Freakiest Play.

By GEORGE MORIARTY
Manager of the Detroit Baseball Club. (Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The question, How does Jack Quinn, of the Athletics, continue to be a regular pitcher after fourteen years' service in the big show, is answered when one glances at the pitching records.

It is because he gives fewer bases on balls and allows fewer hits per game, though he strikes out fewer batters than the majority of winning pitchers in the major leagues. Connie Mack's damp finger is not a Grove or a Vance for speed, but he forces the batters to poke the ball at his supporting cast, and therein lies his success. Last week he allowed Washington four hits, and eighteen of the enemy were retired on drives to the infielders. In twenty games, Quinn's strikeouts are listed at thirty-five, while his co-worker, Grove, has whiffed 121 in twenty-seven contests. The Mack veteran is the only hurler who has proved that the spitball is a tonic instead of a detriment to the arm.

WONDERFUL CONTROL
Quinn is strictly a control ball pitcher. His slogan is: "If I put the ball over, I'll put the batter under." Herb Pennock, the Yankees' great left hander, has about the same recipe. Last Fall, after he had pitched his famous three-hit game against the Pirates, an interviewer asked him: "What is the main factor in your success?" Pennock replied: "The eight other men." The Yankee southpaw averages fewer than two strikeouts to a game. Jack Quinn is always generous in his views about pitching. The other day at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, I asked him if he paid much attention to his condition.

"Condition is everything because it means control," said Quinn. "I went to Hot Springs last January to prepare for this campaign. The baths and a programme of walking over the hills put me in such good condition that I could have cut loose the first day in the training camp. However, I avoided that because the youngsters would also have tried to burn them over, and there would have been a camp full of sore arms."

"When you can put your best delivery where you want it to go, pitching becomes a pleasure, but it's the hardest kind of work to reach that stage," concluded the Spartan spitballer of the Mack-men.

A WALKLESS GAME
Talking about control recalls that Grover Alexander turned in another "walkless" game against Boston recently. George Uhle, ace of the Cleveland staff, accomplished the same stunt at the expense of the Red Sox his last time out. In that game he allowed his opponents only five hits, which makes his sore arm appear like a thing of the past. All of his admirers hope he is right again.

The freakiest incident I have seen on the ball field this season, occurred in the Philadelphia-Detroit game at Shibe Park last Tuesday. In the first inning, with three on base, Harry Heilmann crashed a terrific hit off Ehmske's delivery. The ball went on a line like a rifle-shot into third base, and stopped with a thud, as if it had struck a sack of flour. If the ball had gone over the bag into left field it would have been a sure three bagger, scoring three runs. As it turned out, only one run resulted, the other runners advanced one base, and Heilmann was credited with a single.

Roberti Wins From Risko On Foul in Sixth Round

Cleveland Baker Boy Has Good Margin on Points Until Wild Left Puts Giant to Floor—Crowd Registers Disapproval

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Aug. 15.—One careless left swing to the body, landing deep in foul territory below the broad waist of huge Roberto Roberti, tonight cost rubbery Johnny Risko as many defeats as he gathered in Tex Rickard's entire heavyweight elimination series.

That one punch, landing in the giant Italian's groin after one minute and thirty-nine seconds of fighting in the sixth round of the first of Humbert J. Pugazy's new elimination series, sent Roberti writhing to the floor, unconscious, but victor over the Cleveland giant killer on a foul.

"Double Robert," scaling 221 pounds to a meagre 187 for the durable Bohemian, was the first of the man-mountains that have come along in Risko's career and passed by with their shields rather than on them. Despite that Risko, according to the Associated Press score sheet, has a clear margin in three of the five full rounds fought, while Roberti won the first two.

WILD CONTROVERSY
The wildest sort of controversy greeted the verdict. For a full five minutes, after Roberti, groaning in pain, was lifted over the ropes and carried to his dressing-room, the crowd of more than 15,000, in the National League ball yard, stood and registered its disapproval in a storm of boos and hisses that rolled back and forth across the field.

Looming over Risko as only George Godfrey, the huge negro has, in a local ring, Roberti smashed the Cleveland prizefighter around the ring in the first two rounds with a long left jab and even longer right crosses that puzzled the baker. Before Johnny warmed up to his task of outgalloping these gigantic upstarts, Roberti had drawn a stream of blood from his lips.

Risko leaped at his foe like a ferrier assaulting a wolfhound in the third round, leaping in with left swings to the body that sounded all over the arena. In close, although Roberti with his great strength tossed him about like a sack of potatoes, Risko cuffed at a patch over the Italian's left eye.

VICIOUS FIGHTING
The margin increased in Johnny's favor as the battle eased through the fourth and fifth sessions and the fighting became more vicious. Roberti fought carefully, laying back behind a long left, waiting to end the fray with one zooming right hand punch to the chin. He was very cautious, and Risko with his leaping, plunging attack, kept the giant back pedalling.

An effort will be made, Pugazy announced after the bout, to rematch the pair as soon as possible.

GAINS WINS ON FOUL IN THIRD
Colored Fighter Awarded Bout With Godfrey for "Negro Heavyweight Championship of World."

MAPLE LEAF STADIUM, TORONTO, Aug. 15.—Larry Gains, of Toronto, won on a foul from George Godfrey, of Philadelphia, in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight, which was advertised as for the "negro heavyweight championship of the world." Gains had a slight edge in the mauling which preceded Godfrey's low blow. There was no doubt about the foul.

Gains stepped forward just as Godfrey started the blow and received its full force. The Canadian heavyweight fell to the canvas and was carried to his corner. A physician and Gains' handlers worked over him in the ring for five minutes. Gains won the first round with his aggressiveness. Godfrey was cautious and clinched repeatedly. Neither landed a damaging blow. The second was even, with neither fighter exerting himself and there was no open fighting.

Godfrey lived up at the start of the third and piled several smashing rights to Gains' midriff before his low blow ended the bout. In a previous meeting Godfrey obtained a technical knockout over Gains.

ETHEL CATHERWOOD STARS AT STAMFORD BRIDGE SPORT MEET
TORONTO, Aug. 15.—A special cable to The Toronto Star says Ethel Catherwood, of Toronto and Saskatoon, was second to the German champion in the javelin throw at the international meet at Stamford Bridge, London, yesterday. Though third, Miss Catherwood also gave a splendid exhibition in the high jump at five feet without removing her sweater suit.

Latest News From Wall Street

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Stocks were in a narrow range today, well-grounded reports of an imminent change in the open market policy of the Federal Reserve. In important quarters it was declared that the Central Banking authorities had become convinced of the necessity of easing up money conditions. Such a reversal of policy would quickly improve money conditions by taking these bonds off the hands of the banks and making available to commercial borrowers.

It would not only eliminate the probability of an advance in the present five per cent discount charge, but the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, but create the likelihood of a reduction in this rate within the next few months.

This prospect was reflected in an aggressive buying movement, which converged on the highest grade of stocks. Impressive demand appeared for American Telephone U.S. Steel, American Can, Allied Chemical and other seasoned dividend issues. Strength in the shares of the latter covering movement in stocks recently under pressure. Sharp advances took place in General Motors, Radio and Montgomery Ward.

Directors of Barker Brothers Corporation declared an initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common, placing the stock on a $2 dividend basis. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.62 1/2 on the preferred was also ordered.

Bidding Hemingway net profit for six months ending June 30 was $1,028 after depreciation, interest, Federal taxes, etc., compared with $568,349 in first half of 1927.

Motors, which closed a meeting August 20, are expected to declare extra cash and stock dividends in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the capital stock.

Record of United States Leather Company since its capital reorganization has been more than a year ago, has been retained in Central Leather, its predecessor, several years previously, and indicates company has established a record.

Another company that is expected to increase dividend rate on capital stock shortly is the American National Fruit Company. The company is now paying 2.40 annual dividend on the stock and an increase to $2 is looked for either at meeting late this month or early in September.

One encouraging fact in the railroad situation is that car loading gained successively in the four weeks ending August 10. Loadings in August 4 week were 1,486 cars, ahead of the previous week, showing a gain in all commodities except coal and ore.

International Paper Company income below dividend needs, deficit in quarter and half year attributed to curtailment of operations.

National Dairy Products six months' report was entirely satisfactory and strengthened the opinion that the company's outlook is for continued expansion.

National Tea Company reports for the six months ended June 30 net profit of $1,359,575 after estimated Federal taxes. The company preferred dividends to $8.66 a share on the 150,000 shares common outstanding.

Recreation Rand reports for the June quarter a net profit of $434,280 compared with $840,944 in the same period of 1927.

Powerful banking interests who are declared to be opposed to the Federal Reserve tight money are said to be negotiating for substantial amounts of gold abroad.

Crude oil production of British Controlled Oil Fields, Ltd. from its Venezuelan holdings totaled 32,800 in week ended August 8, compared with 31,880 barrels in preceding week.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company shows gain in gross income, increased revenues for June and first six months also ahead of last year.

Oil production shows decline in week ending August 11. Daily average production drops 14,800 barrels to a total of 2,389,200.

Steel and Tubes increase for seven months ended July 31 earned $780,296 against $799,799 in same period in 1927.

Porto Rican Tobacco Company six months ended June 30 net income was $261,027 against $248,799 in first half of 1927.

Patino Mines and Enterprises six months ended June 30 net profit was $2,066,624 against $1,819,411 in first half of 1927.

Pacific Gas and Electric asked California Railroad Commission for authority to issue and sell ten million $5 shares at $10 a share, to partially reimburse treasury for additions and betterments.

Hornblower and Weeks—We would buy railroad stock at this time, anticipating that there is a latent buying power anxious to go into rails and ready to do so at the first moment. It may seem that the several railroads which have recently had a ready to be translated into a more sustained advance.

J. B. Bache—With monetary conditions what they are we see no incentive in assuming other than a conservative speculative position.

Montreal Stock Letter

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corp., Ltd.)

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—The Montreal market responded in a very feeble way to the marked change for the better in Wall Street today. The notable exception was Nickel, which followed the New York rise up as far as 100. There was a fair-sized reaction in that stock, and considerable importance is attached to the meeting of the board, which has been called for today. It is reported on excellent authority that important developments are foreshadowed which will have a vital influence on the market for these shares. Those who know what is to take place cannot doubt that stock in the final hour, finishing 1-4 lower at 51-4.

On the general list, Steel of Canada and City Dairy were up 1 point or more and in the final hour, finishing 1-4 lower at 51-4.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The stock market rallied today following the downward trend in money rates, which were renewed at 7 per cent, and in the afternoon trended to 5 1/2 per cent. A gain of from one to seven points were featured in the so-called specialty group. American Can and the leading steel issues were prominent features in the advance, while Radio, Montgomery Ward, Jewel Tea, General Motors and numerous others responded to active short covering. Manhattan Electric Supply at the same time was under pressure.

Parsonage Is Transformed Into Museum

HAWORTH, Eng., Aug. 14.—The parsonage where Emily, Charlotte and Anne Bronte wrote "Jane Eyre," "The Heights," and "The Tenant of Wildfell Hall," nineteenth century best sellers, has been opened here as a permanent Bronte Museum.

This was made possible through the generosity of Sir James Roberts, who spent his boyhood in Haworth, and who has given $15,000 to build the present rector a new rectory, so that the home of the Rev. Patrick Bronte and his family of literary geniuses may be released as a place of pilgrimage for Bronte enthusiasts all over the world.

Sir Edward Brotherton, president of the Bronte Society, and other members have contributed towards the renovation of the parsonage, which has been rendered fireproof and damp-proof, and installed with steam heat.

All the Bronte relics which have been accumulating in the little village museum for many years, now have a permanent place in Haworth. The original collection of manuscripts and letters, including the complete correspondence of Charlotte Bronte and Ellen Nussey, her first friend, are among the most interesting new additions. The unabridged Seyland manuscript, which reveals the true story of Branwell Bronte's love intrigue, and several original manuscripts written by that gifted but erratic brother of the famous trio, are among them.

The Bonnell collection, which has arrived from Philadelphia for inclusion in the Bronte Museum, is set apart in a special room.

Except for a new wing, which has been added to the Bronte house, there, Haworth Parsonage remains just as it was when Emily and Charlotte wrote the books which became the sensation of the literary world of their period.

It stands on the peak of Haworth Hill, the last outpost of the tiny village, with nothing beyond but the rolling moors, which Emily loved to roam with her dog, "Keeper," and which inspired her to write "Wuthering Heights."

The front windows of the parsonage look down over the graveyard, sloping to the church beneath whose chancel all the Brontes lie buried, except Anne, who died and was buried at Scarborough.

The church has been rebuilt in recent years. The pew where the motherless Bronte children sat listening to their father, and the altar rail at which Charlotte knelt, "pale as a snowdrop," when she became the bride of her father's curate, A. C. Nicholls, disappeared in the process.

The Bronte Museum is one of the most complete of its kind in the world and takes a fitting place with Stratford-on-Avon, Windermere and Abbotsford as one of the leading goals of literary pilgrimages in England.

The attorney for the defendant had made himself obnoxious by his conduct in taking a fitting place with Stratford-on-Avon, Windermere and Abbotsford as one of the leading goals of literary pilgrimages in England.

There was a moment of silence after the judge delivered the sentence, broken finally by the prisoner's sarcastic query, as he leaned toward his attorney: "You're so damned good at objecting, why don't you object to this?"

MAN GIVES LIFE FOR TWO

Self-sacrifice caused the death in the Antarctic of Jacques Legalloude of a French whaler which was wrecked off Kerguelen Island. According to Legalloude's two companions who have just reached civilization, the three set out from the disabled whaler in a small boat to find wood. Their tiny craft was wrecked in a blizzard, and the three men set out in the blizzard over an unexplored mountain and glacier to find a whaling station. Half frozen they struggled on until Legalloude collapsed. His companions carried him for some time, until he said suddenly, "I am better now and can walk. You go ahead. I'll choose my own path," and perished, saying he knew a shorter route. He struggled on as long as his companions were in sight, then laid down, giving up his life that they, unhampered, might reach a station.

ARCHITECTS IN BEAUTY DEBATE

In a debate on modernism in architecture in the meeting room of the Royal Institute of British Architects recently, Professor A. Beresford Pite said the architects' difficulty in seeking modernity was that they had been submerged in a feeble striving for antiquity. Their eyes were in the back of their heads instead of in the front. They could see nothing straight; their road lines had to be curved and their pavement crazy. They wanted to wake up and stir themselves out of that absurd reactionary want of courage and inability to design which had tied them down to the past for so many generations.

Students were feeling for proportion without knowledge of the history. A standard of proportion was entirely vague and impersonal, and apart from the traditions of antiquity, did not exist. The Greeks achieved proportion without bothering themselves about it. In the same way, if they proceeded fearlessly and frankly they would achieve some recognizable standard of proportion. Anything was healthy which would liberate plate glass and let it have its proper sphere among building materials.

The main difficulty was that that institute insisted on the training of its candidates in a wooden, peremptory, ignorant study of the history of architecture. (Laughter.)

Sir Reginald Blomfield, R.A., said that we must move on, but without study and knowledge of the past we were as a ship without a rudder. The ten plagues of Egypt were nothing to the series of spasmodic movements that had shaken painting and sculpture since the end of the nineteenth century.

Even the sedate art of architecture had been dragged in the mud. Through lip service was paid to the glories of the past, they were told to turn their backs on them with the least possible delay. The test of architecture was to be efficiency for its purpose, and efficiency of a very limited kind. Emotion excited by the efficiency of a French locomotive was not the same emotion as that which was intellectual or ethical, a feeling that the thing had done what it was intended to do, a definition which would include many things with no claim whatever to aesthetic value.

VALUE OF PAST EXPERIENCE
If they declined to accept mere efficiency as the test of architecture, what were they to take as their working test? He could see nothing beyond the test of centuries. By common consent certain works were accepted as standards in the different arts, and there could be no doubt that the value of certain works of men had been placed practically beyond criticism by people of knowledge and intelligence in successive generations, and it was the qualities of those works, spiritual, intellectual and technical, for which one should seek in the study of past work. No good artist studied them for the sake of their reproduction, but all who hoped to be good artists should, so far as they could, steep themselves in the spirit of those mighty men of old before they set out on untrodden tracks of their own. His quarrel with the modernist was not that he wanted to move forward, but that he tried to run before he could walk. The past, at any rate, provided a firm starting point and a standard of attainment.

Moreover, in the arts of design there was a subtle pleasure to be derived from association, from allusions, from suggested rather than fully expressed emotion—echoes and cadences from a world long past yet still living in the soul of the poet and the artist. Were they content to substitute for this the mechanized efficiency which seemed to satisfy the soul of the modernist? There was something more serious in this class of art and mechanized life than appeared on the surface. To the modernist there was no such thing as an absolute standard of beauty; his view was that beauty was merely relative. He might fluke into it, but he did not much care to start the modernist. He said he contended that the fact that the result answered its utilitarian purpose—lpo facto, made it beautiful. He urged modernism to the sea, to stop a man from kissing you?" "No!" was the girl's frank reply.

Amongst many good stories of the studio told by Miss Betty Balfour, the famous film star, is one concerning a youthful movie actress who, in a certain scene that was being rehearsed prior to being "shot," was supposed to be fiercely resisting an attempt on the part of the villain to kiss her.

The rehearsal, however, was far from satisfactory so far as she was concerned, and at length the producer lost patience. "Come my dear," he exclaimed, "do please stop a life last of Think, now; haven't you ever tried to stop a man from kissing you?" "No!" was the girl's frank reply.

JUST LIKE A MAN

NEW PLANE FOR BLIND FLYING
In order to fly safely and easily at night and at other times when guiding marks may not be seen, M. Farman, the pioneer French aviator, has invented a dual control. In using it, one pilot is entirely enclosed so that he must rely entirely on his turn-and-bank indicators, compass and other aids to direct him. The second pilot is in the open cockpit so he can take over the controls for flying in clear weather.
